FARM BLOC FIRST MEETING UNDER CAPPER

12 Republicans and 11 Democrats Discuss Proposals for Reorganization of Farm Credit System.

PLAN FOR MORE THAN 90 DAYS' CREDIT

General Scheme Is for Extension of Scope of Land Banks to Permit Credit on Commodities.

By DAVID LAWRENCE, A Special Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The farm bloc in the United States Senate, after a period of comparative quiet, has come back to life. The first meeting of the group since the resignation of Senator Kenyon has just been held under the chairmanship of Senator Capper of Kansas. Insisting that their purposes were non-partisan and solely to benefit the agricultural interests of the country, 12 Republicans and 11 Democrats attended the meeting and endeavored to reach an agreement on a bill which would reorganize the farm credit machinery of the nation.

The group decided on the appointment of a committee of seven to examine the half dozen bills now pending in Congress with a view to working out a satisfactory compromise. Practically every farm interest was represented at the meeting. There were representatives of the National Grange, the Farmers' Bureau, the Farmers' National Council, conservatives and radicals alike. Eugene Meyer Jr., managing director of the War Finance Corporation, took a prominent part in the discussion.

The move is fraught with great significance. Senator Capper told this correspondent today that a committee of the American Bankers Association favored the plan of a new credit system for the farmer and stockman, and that President Harding was favorably disposed to the idea.

Plan for Longer Credits

Briefly, the aim of all the bills is to enable the farmer to market his crops without depending on the middleman and without permitting the speculators and other intervening interests to take advantage of the farmer's immediate need for credit to pay his 90-day obligations. The desire of the farm bloc is to establish in America a credit system with six months or more as the length of the credit obligations. The War Finance Corporation has been particularly zealous in its efforts to secure the discontinuance of the War Finance Corporation and the substitution of a plan that would take into consideration the varying credit needs of the farmer and stockman. Senator Capper has introduced a bill along the lines proposed by Meyer.

But the effect of the farm bloc bill will be to harmonize all the bills such as those introduced by Lenroot in the Senate and Anderson in the House of Representatives, and such proposals as have been made by Senators Simmons of North Carolina and Norbeck of South Dakota, and blend them into a far-reaching plan that will encompass every phase of agriculture.

Would Extend Land Bank Plan. The tendency is to use the existing farm land bank system and extend its powers. At present there are 12 regional banks making loans on land only, but the proposed legislation would enable them to issue loans on the basis of commodities, such as grain, cotton and livestock and other products of the ranch and farm. The Government would start the ball rolling with an advance of a hundred million dollars, though some estimates run as high as five hundred millions, and then the Government would float farm bonds as a basis of credit and thus obtain from small investors throughout the country the money wherewith to finance the crops of the nation. The farm bloc now on sale are returning a good rate of interest and are selling remarkably well, so the agriculturalists believe the bonds to be floated later would be grabbed up as a splendid investment.

GERMANY INSISTS 'IT CAN'T RAISE 60 BILLION MARKS

Reply to Allies Expresses Good Will, But Declares New Taxes Cannot Be Imposed Before May 31.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, May 11.—The German reply to the reparations note of April 13, which has been received by the Reparations Commission, protests the good will of the German Government, but pleads the material impossibility of imposing 60,000,000,000 marks in new taxes before May 31 or complying with all the conditions laid down March 21.

The German Government, the reply says, is convinced of the necessity of covering expenditure without further monetary inflation. Having regard, however, for the German economic situation and financial obligations abroad, it is considered inevitable that the reparations due by Germany in foreign currency cannot be met without the aid of foreign loans.

To Offer New Scheme.
"While it will be impossible in view of recent heavy increases in taxation to impose 60,000,000,000 marks fresh taxation before May 31, as the commission has demanded," the German Government says, "it is prepared before that date to submit to the commission a complete scheme to cover expenditure without further monetary inflation."

Various German government notes with satisfaction that the commission desires to support Germany in regulating her finances and to this end will be prepared to afford the commission all the facilities for investigation it may ask for and will be prepared to consult the commission with regard to the legislative proposals planned by the German Government in financial matters during the time of the regulation of reparations payments as provided by the commission's decision on March 21.

Would Do Best to Meet Demands.
"In conclusion the German Government declares that it will do its best to comply with the conditions of the commission's note of March 21. It is of the opinion, however, that some of the conditions are incapable of fulfillment, but relies on the commission's offer in its letter of April 13 "to examine the suggestions which may be put forward by the German Government for meeting the difficulties in which it is placed."

GERMANS TO BUILD BIG ZEPPELIN FOR AMERICA

Craft of 70,000 Meters Will Replace One Allotted to U. S. but Destroyed in Germany.

By the Associated Press.
VERSAILLES, May 11.—Germany will manufacture a Zeppelin of 70,000 meters capacity to replace the one allotted to the United States by treaty, under the award of the Ambassadors' council, which allows America 3,000,000 gold marks in reparation, but destroyed in Germany. The Ambassadors' award was authorized by the Interallied War Council, which still has its seat here.

The United States has said that Germany be ordered to build for it a 100,000 cubic meter Zeppelin which would have been the largest ever constructed. The War Council at first thought a ship of 30,000 cubic meters capacity should be sufficient. The Navy Department at Washington found this suggestion inadequate, and the War Council increased the size to 70,000 meters, which would make 70,000,000,000 marks in reparation for exchange. The German Government will, it is believed, be able to deliver the airship within nine months.

One of the conditions is that a German crew shall take the Zeppelin to the United States, although several American officers probably will accompany the crew in the flight across the Atlantic.

RUSSIANS' REPLY MAKES NEW PROPOSAL TO THE ALLIES

strengthened the earlier impression that German reparations to France might play a dominating part in the settlement of the Russian question. "It is a part of the whole question," said a leading statesman today, "everything back to that, for France wants a restored France before the reconstruction of Russia or Germany."

Japan Not to Make Loan.
Japan, it was stated today, has joined forces with France in her determination not to induce in protracted negotiations with the Russians. Thus, it is explained, is chiefly the outgrowth of Japan's experience during months of fruitless negotiations with representatives of the Far Eastern Republic of Siberia at Dairen, which finally collapsed because the Japanese say, of the constantly shifting nature of the conditions brought forward by the Chita Government.

It was stated on authority today that Japan has no intention of granting a direct Government loan to the soviet government. If an arrangement is made with Russia, Japan feels that further assistance for Russian reconstruction can only be accorded in co-operation with interests in the United States. It was authoritatively declared.

The German Government expressed regret that, owing to the prolonged absence of several of its members at Genoa, it has not been possible to observe some of the time limits laid down by the note of March 21, and requests that a reasonable extension of these limits be granted by the commission.

Germany Basing Hope of Averting Reparations Crisis on a Loan.

BERLIN, May 11.—Germany is now basing all her hopes on the Paris finance conference where Finance Minister Herms will repeat Germany's need for an international loan to avoid the reparations crisis May 31.

Vice-Chancellor Bauer and Dr. Herms conferred with party leaders Tuesday night on the contents of the new reply to the Reparations Commission. It is said to be very conciliatory, as an introduction for the Herms mission.

Hermes told the leaders to hasten work on the compulsory interior loan of 1,000,000,000 gold mark loan. This is now in the hands of the national council, from where it will go before the Reichstag next week. The general impression here is that the German railroad system will be the chief guarantee plan Herms will have in his pocket when he goes to Paris. This would mean transfer of the railroads from state to private hands. The industrialists would in return offer them as a guarantee for an international loan to pay reparations for a fixed number of years, giving Germany a chance to recover economically.

This plan has long been advocated by the Industrial People's party, of which the Vice-Chancellor, Gustav Stresemann, is the spokesman. The Socialists and Democratic Industrialists, led by Foreign Minister Rathenau, have prevented it. They have feared that the political power of the conservative trusts, like the Stinnes, Thyssen, Haniel and Stumm groups, would gain thereby.

Should the Finance Minister succeed at Paris, it is believed here he would probably replace Joseph Wirth as Chancellor, while Stresemann would get Rathenau's portfolio.

HAS TATTOOED INITIALS OF HER EX-SWEETHEART SKINNED OFF

Spanish Girl Undergoes Operation to Arm to Prove Love for Present Day Admirer.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.
DALLAS, Texas.—Twenty-Six-year-old Josefa Garcia, 20 years old, and three years away from sunny Spain, had the tattooed initials of a former sweetheart "skinned off" from her left forearm at a hospital here this week to "show her love for the man of her choice," Senator Romil Alonso, 24, a Spaniard who has been Americanized.

Little Josefa came to the land of the American three summers ago. She left a sweetheart in Spain. She told him she would wait for him in the land of the American, and to prove she would wait and that she was his she had her initials tattooed on her arm.

The gallant lover recently refused to come to America. Josefa, who had refused to go back. The truth was broken.

Josefa met Senator Alonso and told him of her love. He said it did. But the new don could not stand the idea of wedding a girl with the initials of another on her body. He told her so.

Two days later she left the hospital. With Alonso she went to the priest. They are married.

BALFOUR SAYS U. S. STATE'S ATTEMPT TO IMPEACH OWN WITNESS BLOCKED

Washington Finally Has Approved Mandate Over Holy Land, League of Nations Is Told.

QUESTION TO BE PUT BEFORE THE COUNCIL

Partial Co-operation by Germany and Russia in League Affairs to Be Discussed at Geneva.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, May 11.—The unexpected introduction of the Palestine mandate question into the agenda of the meeting of the League of Nations Council, which began today, is likely to make the session one of the most important to be held.

The American Government finally has consented to the British mandate for Palestine, the Earl of Balfour informed the League.

The Earl will tell the Council that there no longer is any adequate reason for withholding approval of the mandate, as Great Britain and the United States have just concluded a formal agreement after one year's negotiations. He said final approval of the mandate by the American Government came to the British Government from the State Department at Washington in a recent note.

League Officers Amazed.
Announcement by the Earl that he intended to demand immediate approval of the British mandate has amazed League officers.

They see in this connection the possibility of further friction between Great Britain and France, unless some agreement, not yet made public, exists between them over the disposal of Palestine.

Zionists are bringing pressure upon the Council for settlement of the mandate question so that the plans for a Jewish state in Palestine can go forward.

Today's session was private and was expected to be brief, the only important matter for discussion being the proposed establishment of a liaison office of the League in South America so as to draw closer Latin America and the League. Further details concerning the permanent League office, announced last week, are to be settled.

Delegates Who Are Present.
The following delegates are here: The Earl of Balfour, Great Britain; Leon Bourgeois, France; the Marquis Imperiali di Francavilla, Italy; M. Adachi, Japan; Tang Tsai-Pou, China; Paul Hymans, Belgium; Senor Da Gama, Brazil; and Count Quinquies de Leon, who will preside, of Spain.

A Russian engineer, who was forced to run a train for the armed marchers also was a witness.

H. N. Miller of Madison, testified that the marchers were not there to turn the marchers back. During the conversation as related by the witness, Miller said he believed the men had "tacked a proposition" because the men of Logan county knew every mountain, every tree, and every rock of the ground where the fighting would take place.

Prosecution Tripped by Defense in Trying to Corner Man on Stand.

ARMED MARCH OF MINERS IS TOLD OF

"Can Cross Logan County if U. S. Troops Stay Out," Statement Attributed to Union Leader.

By the Associated Press.
CHARLESTOWN, W. Va., May 11.—Difficulties of the State's counsel with their witness in the treason trial of William Blizard came out today during examination of Fred Dangler, first man on the stand at the morning session of Circuit Court.

"We were surprised by what the witnesses testified to," declared A. M. Blecher, one of the attorneys associated with the prosecution. He asked the witness whether he had talked last night with President C. Frank Kenney of District No. 17, United Mine Workers, or any of the other men indicted for participation in the march of miners against Logan County, after hearing the testimony under cross-examination. When the witness said "No" and did say he had talked with prosecuting attorneys, Blecher began to read from his digest of expected testimony, asking the witness if he had not made such statements.

Defense Objections Sustained.
The defense objected to the State's attempt to impeach its own witness and the objection was sustained.

Dangler, who lived in Sharples at the time of the march, testified he saw armed men in that vicinity. Cross-examined as to whether he heard of a clash between State police and miners on Beech Creek, which is the defense claim, for the defense charged that the march was a second march, he said he saw no armed men in Sharples until after that affair.

Move to free under bond, eight defendants in the "March of cases" was halted last night after court had convened in a special night session to hear the application for bail. H. W. Houston, chief counsel for the mine workers, announced that because of the absence of some witnesses whom the defense wished to present at that time, it would be necessary to ask that the matter be held in abeyance for awhile. No new date for hearing the application was set.

Many Aligned Statement.
C. Frank Kenney, president of District 17, United Mine Workers of America, declared he could "take his men through Logan county and Mingo county, and that the march was a second march, he said he saw no armed men in Sharples until after that affair."

A Russian engineer, who was forced to run a train for the armed marchers also was a witness.

H. N. Miller of Madison, testified that the marchers were not there to turn the marchers back. During the conversation as related by the witness, Miller said he believed the men had "tacked a proposition" because the men of Logan county knew every mountain, every tree, and every rock of the ground where the fighting would take place.

MERGER OF SEVEN LARGE STEEL COMPANIES UNDER WAY

Lawyer for Concerns Says New Corporation Will Be Second Only to U. S. Steel—Details to Be Discussed Tuesday.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Moses Taylor, chairman of the Lackawanna Steel Co., announced late today that his company had completed negotiations with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation for a merger of the two corporations.

The Lackawanna has been mentioned in connection with the possible merger of seven independent steel companies, but the Bethlehem corporation has not.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 11.—The merger of seven of the largest independent steel companies in the country into a new company, which will be second only to the United States Steel Corporation, will be discussed Tuesday at the offices of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., according to Thomas L. Chadbourne of the law firm of Chadbourne, Babitt & Wallace, who said today he considered the chances of the merger going through were about "two to one in favor of it."

Stocks of the various companies involved in the proposed merger were little affected in the early trading on the exchange. Their tendency was to decline with the rest of the market.

Various Plants Inspected.
Chadbourne returned to New York yesterday after an inspection trip to the plants of the companies involved in the plan, taken in company with the officers of the various companies. He said that at the meeting Tuesday details of the merger would be gone over and, after that, he indicated, there would be little delay in making the final settlement, although the legal formalities might take almost two months.

Chadbourne said he was almost sure the merger would be accomplished soon and that a company second to none in size only to the United States Steel Corporation would be formed.

Six months ago, the chances were ten to one against it," Chadbourne said. "Now I believe they are two Engineer Tells His Story.

George Stern of St. Albans, was the locomotive engineer who said he was forced to drive a train from Clothier to Horse Creek and back during the march to bring about 500 armed men.

He said the train crew was collected by men at Clothier all of whom were armed and that when he refused to run the train without orders for its safety and the operator at the station was refused, orders for the train's movement, the men got a motor car belonging to the railroad company and that proceeded the train, as he expressed it "flashing ahead." Four or five men stayed on the engine with him and gave instructions as to where the train should go and when it should stop. Armed recruits were picked up at all stations along the Horse Creek branch of the railroad, he testified, and taken to Jeffrey and Ottawa.

The following night when his train reached Clothier, armed men again boarded the engine and ordered him to stay on as they wanted to use him, he testified. His complaints that he had worked two days and a night already and that he had no supper, finally were heeded and another engineer was obtained to run the train that night.

LOYD GEORGE'S STATE AS TO CHURCH PROPERTY

Warns Genoa Delegates Against Backing Demand for Restoration.

By the Associated Press.
GENOA, May 11.—When the leaders of the "big five" Powers were discussing the Vatican memorandum yesterday concerning restoration of religious worship and education in Russia and the return of church property, Premier Lloyd George issued a warning that if the conference backed the Roman Catholic Church in a demand for restoration of church property, it would be a powerful ammunition to the soviet government.

Bolshevik Russia, he declared, would certainly reply that the Western countries, notably France and England, had confiscated church property in the past—English property at the time of the Reformation and during the period of the separation of the church and state.

Mr. Jaspars, the Belgian Foreign Minister, seized the opportunity to emphasize that Belgium always recognized church possessions. Belgium wanted Russia to accord the same recognition to the restoration of church property as private property, which all returned whenever materially possible.

The five Powers decided that the memorandum should be considered officially by the subcommittee on political affairs, although some of the delegates voiced the opinion that it was undesirable to take action on the property clause of the memorandum.

Mr. Pizzardo, Deputy Secretary of State for the Vatican, explained to the Associated Press that the position heard in conference circles that the Holy See was ready to abandon its claim for the restoration of church property in Russia was correct. He said the real situation at the Vatican was as follows:

The Catholic Church, which is ready to be in bad condition under the Czar, owing to systematic persecutions by the autocratic Government, is now in a position to surrender the fundamental principle of the nationalization of church properties by the Bolsheviks, by the Vatican, realizing the impossibility of the soviet government's surrendering its fundamental principle, namely, the abolition of private property, is ready to have restoration of church property interpreted in the sense that the use of those properties could be given to the soviet authorities. This could be done by granting church property to the soviet government as a reward for their treatment as the Powers expect to have the soviet government agree to them with reference to foreign property in general."

RED STAINED AND SHOT-MARKED SHIRT FOUND AFTER SHOOTING

Alleged Burglar That Drew Fire of Householder in Bedroom, Escapes.

Detectives investigating a reported burglary at the home of Mike Bozso, 1312A North Fourteenth street, which Bozso said he had fired several shots at the intruder at 10:30 p. m. today, found a red-stained and bullet-marked shirt and a bullet cap in a lot behind Bozso's home.

Bozso said he was awakened by a man moving about his room with a flashlight and that as he started to get out of bed the burglar ordered him to lie still. He said he slipped his revolver from under his pillow and began firing at the burglar. The latter jumped from a back window and fired several more shots at Bozso as he ran across the street toward the lot.

Mike Briscuso, 1312A North Fourteenth street, told the detective he heard the shots and saw a man limping as he ran across the street. Nothing was taken from Bozso's home.

JUDGES REFUSE TO FREE CHICAGO LABOR LEADER

Dangerous to Free Man Taken After Disorders Yesterday Now.

POLICE MAY HOLD THEM UNTIL SATURDAY

Prisoners Include "Big Tim" Murphy, Cornelius Shea and Fred Mader, Head Building Trades Council

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 11.—Declaring that he agreed with the content made by the police that "Chicago is a state of warfare," Judge Kishkan Scanlon today refused to issue writs of habeas corpus releasing Cornelius Shea and John Lafferty, labor leaders, arrested in connection with the murder of police officer yesterday morning during a riot of alleged labor bombings.

The cases of Shea and Lafferty were the first to come up and Judge Scanlon took only a few minutes to rule on them. About a dozen applications for writs of habeas corpus were put before other judges.

Shea, an ex-convict, who served a term in Sing Sing, is the son of an element of the teamsters' union. Lafferty is a lieutenant of "Big Tim" Murphy, known as Chicago labor czar, who also was arrested.

George Gorman, Assistant State Attorney, in opposing the writs, stated that Chicago is in a state of warfare and to release these men would only mean more murders, bombings and more violence.

Judge Scanlon interrupted by Judge Gorman that he agreed "that the warfare" and denied the war. "The question before the court is whether the community is in a state of warfare against law and order," said Judge Scanlon, "and if so, I believe that it is."

Law and Order Challenged.
The question before the court is whether the community is in a state of warfare against law and order and if so, I believe that it is. It cannot close its eyes, when order is challenged. If this conspiracy against law and order is not broken up, it will be a matter of time before the city will be a lawless place."

When an Assistant State Attorney made a plea before Judge Scanlon for the release of the men, the judge refused to hear the plea, postponing the case at the request of the police.

JUDGES REFUSE TO FREE CHICAGO LABOR LEADERS

Jurists Decide It Would Be Dangerous to Free Men Taken After Disorders of Yesterday Now.

POLICE MAY HOLD THEM UNTIL SATURDAY

Prisoners Include "Big Tim" Murphy, Cornelius Shea
and Fred Mader, Head of Building Trades Council.

Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 11.—Declaring that he agreed with the contention made by the police that "Chicago is a state of warfare," Judge Kisham Scanlon today refused to issue writs of habeas corpus releasing Cornelius Shea and John Lafferty, labor leaders, arrested in connection with the murder of policeman yesterday morning during a se-rie of alleged labor bombings. He told the police these two men could be held at least until Saturday.

The cases of Shea and Lafferty
were the first to come up and Judge Scanlon took only a few minutes to rule on them. About a dozen other applications for writs of habeas corpus were up before other judges.
Shea, an ex-convict, who once served a term in Sing Sing, is head
of one element of the teamsters' union.
Lafferty is a lieutenant to "Big Tim" Murphy, known as Chicago's labor czar, who also was arrested.

George Gorman, Assistant State's Attorney, in opposing writs of habeas corpus for the two men, stated that Chicago is in a state of warfare and to release these men would only mean more murders, more bombings and more violence.

Writs Denied by Judge.
Judge Scanlon interrupted by tellphone men who were asking "about the warfare" and denied the writs.
The question before the court is,
is this community confronted by a situation of warfare against law and order? Judge Scanlon, "I believe that it is."

Law and Order Challenged.
This community has been in constant state of lawlessness for weeks.
It cannot be closed down, when law and order is challenged. If this is a community against law and order it is a community against the state.
I believe that it is.

At the same time Judge John David in effect refused to release "Big Tim" Murphy and Fred Mader, the later an ex-convict and head of the Building Trades Council. David refused to hear the plea, postponing the case at the request of the police.

The jail and police stations are crowded today with labor leaders and others held in connection with the murders. Two men have been pointed out as resembling men in the automobile from which shots
which killed Terence Lyons, acting Lieutenant, were fired. Rewards totaling $15,000 have been offered for the arrest of the slayers.

Raid on labor headquarters
brought in labor bosses by the score yesterday and more than 100 are held.

The two partly identified as the slayers are, police say, Isidore Bracey, 28 years old, an Irish Class
B prisoner, is said to have fired
the shots from an automobile when Lyons was killed and he was pointed out by James A. McElroy, Frederick Blank, patrolman, who were with Lyons when he was shot, and Albert Mueller, Pa-trollman, was seriously injured.

Alibi Advanced for One.
Lyons' family has advanced an alibi for him. Glass, who is a member of the Glaziers' Union, was arrested in a raid on union headquarters and was pointed out by a man who said he was an eye-witness
as the slayer of Thomas Clarke, 30 patrollman, who was on guard at a building which previously had been attacked.

Lafferty, a third suspect,
has been under heavy bond in connection with a mail robbery.

Chief of Police Fitz Morris says
he believes the men were only hired gunmen, the higher-up forces in the organized labor circles, putting the action a conspiracy to overthrow the Citizens Committee for Enforcement of the Landis Wage Award.
Mader intended to settle labor disputes between members of the Building Trades Council and the labor unions.

The slaying of the two policemen
has been the result of tactics employed by Fred Mader, Tim Murphy, Cornelius Shea and other head-men and ex-convicts who have gone into the police department, Chief Fitz Morris said, "Now that they want war, the Police Department will give it to them. I have instructed officers to round up all these hoodlums
and place them under lock and key."

Associate, says One Labor Chief.
"I think this is all a mistake," Fred Mader, president of the Building Trades Council, said. "I've been trying to play clean. We regret the

6TH INFANTRY TO BE REUNITED AT BARRACKS

Post Will Be Quarters for 1775
Men, Twice as Many as Now
There Under New Order.

Word has reached Jefferson Barracks
that the War Department, in a movement for the redistribution of the army, has ordered the reuniting
of the Sixth Infantry Regiment at Jefferson Barracks. While the official order has not been received at the barracks, it is known among the officers there that this action has been taken.

There are eight companies of the Sixth Infantry now at Jefferson Barracks. They hiked there from Camp Jackson, South Carolina, a distance of 845 miles last year, and the unit was reviewed in Twelfth street by Marshal Foch and Gen. Pershing on the last leg of the long march.

The entire regiment was at Camp
Jackson, and when it was divided into units three companies were sent to Fort McPherson (Georgia), five companies to Camp McMillan (Alabama), two companies to Fort Crook (Nebraska), and eight companies came to Jefferson Barracks.

The reuniting of this regiment is said to have been decided upon for economic reasons. The regiment has 1775 men and 75 officers, half of whom are now at Jefferson Barracks.

Joplin Globe Buys News-Herald.
JOPLIN, Mo., May 11.—The Joplin Globe published an announcement that the Joplin Globe Publishing Co. has contracted to purchase the Joplin News-Herald, an afternoon newspaper, and that, beginning May 15, the two newspapers
will be published in the Globe plant.
P. E. Burton and O. D. Royce of Joplin are principal owners of the News-Herald, with Burton as editor and manager.

Death of the policemen as much as the investigation and when the results of the investigation are sifted I believe they will find that other than labor
men were to blame in the crime.

The slayers' automobile was found riddled with bullets and there were bloodstains in it.

Miss Evelyn Flood, said to be secretary to Murphy, is being held for questioning with several other women connected with labor organizations. Documents seized in yesterday's raids will be inspected carefully.

It's just another bum rap like the rest they have handed me," Tim Murphy said. "I'm no copper killer.
I never slugged a cop in my life.
The only thing I ever had to do with them was to buy one a drink."

Fitzmorris has insulted me. I don't know anything about this at all. He's just taking his dislike for me out on my friends, and I suppose it's the sweet box for us for a while."

Murphy Under Seven-Year Sentence.
Murphy, known as Chicago's "Labor czar," has been out on bail after having been sentenced recently to seven years in the penitentiary in connection with the $400,000 Union Station mail robbery. He is said to be wealthy and resides in a fashionable North Side district.

The Citizens' Committee to enforce the Landis awards today carried full page advertisements in every Chicago newspaper calling on Chicagoans to unite and rid the city of "gunmen labor leaders." The advertisements said that the committee had been warned by Fred Mader,
head of the Building Trades Union,
that a campaign of violence would result if the Landis awards were enforced. Referring to this, the advertisement said:

"We will fight these labor mor-derers, gunmen and sluggers with every legitimate power in our means until we have rid Chicago entirely of the menace."

MINIMUM LOSS TO NIGHT AND DAY DEPOSITORS 20 PCT.

Estimate of $540,000 Indicates About 80 Per Cent
Will Be Paid on All Accounts.

REORGANIZATION
PLAN ABOUT READY

Agreement Expected to Be Signed Today for International Bank Interests to Take Over Affairs.

The minimum eventual loss of de-positors of the Night and Day Bank will be about $540,000, and there are possibilities of a maximum loss of $810,000, it was authoritatively estimated today, coincident with the expectation that a contract would be signed during the day by State Commissioner of Finance Hughes and interests affiliated with the International Bank of St. Louis, by which these interests will take over the Night and Day Bank and its affairs.
The contract is subject to approval
by the Circuit Court.

The aggregate credited to depositors of the Night and Day Bank is $2,700,000. It is hoped that, eventually, the new bank, which will be organized by the International Bank interests, will be able to pay 80 cents on the dollar, after all assets, both good and bad, have been liquidated.
This would make the aggregate loss to depositors $540,000. If only 70 cents of the depositors' interests will be considered possible by some of the officials, the depositors' loss would be $810,000.

Bank to Be Opened June 5.
The reorganization interests, which have contracted to take over the bank, are headed by George A. Meyer, president of that institution. It is planned that the new bank to be organized by these interests will be opened in the quarters of the Night and Day Bank, 815 Olive street, June 5.

The contract provides that 25 per cent of the depositors will be paid
on demand, as soon as the new bank is opened, and that within four months 50 to 55 per cent additional will have been realized on good assets.
The balance of the depositors' interests will be paid out or placed to the credit of de-positors as rapidly as the conversion is made.

The had and doubtful assets of the Night and Day Bank will be held in trust for liquidation by the new bank and it is believed that within a year another 5 per cent may be realized on this, giving a minimum to depositors of 50 cents on the dollar.

Bank Closed in January.
The bank was closed by Hughes Jan. 5, after a shortage had been discovered. A O. Meininger, cashier, had disappeared, and could not be found. He subsequently returned to the city and was indicted, as were other officials and employees of the bank.

Some of the depositors, particularly those with comparatively small accounts, have sold their deposits as a means of getting ready cash, at prices ranging from 40 to 60 cents on the dollar. It is estimated that $100,000 have been sold thus.

Shortly after the bank was closed
the price paid for deposits in the bank was 10 cents on the dollar.
More recently the prevailing price has been 50 cents on the dollar and since there has been probability of active campaign during the next 30 days against careless automobile drivers. The committee comprises about 300 business men, who note
the license number of automobiles that are driven in violation of the various traffic and safety rules. This is reported to the Police Department,
which takes any appropriate action.
Offenses that are to be watched for especially are: Driving in front of moving street cars, passing standing street cars, passing street cars on the left where there is a double track, speeding, failure to stop for crossings, failure to signal change of direction, starting from the curb without signaling, driving away from an accident.

Man Assessed $1000, but Is Paroled
on Bond.

George B. Buckley of Webster Groves, a public stenographer, was fined $1000 in the Court of Criminal Correction today on a charge of failure to support his 13-year-old daughter, Frances, who resides with her mother at 5659 Enright avenue, and later was paroled on a $1500 bond on condition that he contribute $500
to the child's support.

Buckley testified that, following a divorce obtained by his wife Nov.
10 last, he agreed to pay $50 a month for the child's support. Later, he said, he stopped payments because he did not believe the child was receiving wearing apparel for which the money was intended. He purchased clothes for his daughter, he said, but the garments were returned to him by his former wife.

VANDERLIP LIKENS GENOA CONFERENCE TO A CHESS GAME

Lloyd George and Barthou Shown in Maneuvers for Control of 30 Pawns in European Politics.

LATENT FEAR OF RUSSIA IS FELT

International Tensions Foreseen Should Parley Fail
and Soviet Goes on Concession-Making Rampage.

By FRANK A. VANDERLIP.
American Banker, Who Is at Genoa, Observing the Conference of European Powers on His Own Initiative.
(Copyright, 1922, by the Press and Publisher of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)

GENOA, May 11.—The simple-minded American at Genoa feels like a beginner watching Capablanca playing chess. Here is the greatest chess game on a board with 30
squares, each a sovereign state of Europe. The stake is the fate of 440,- 000,000 people. As in chess, the objective shift quickly. At the beginning Premier Lloyd George wanted to accomplish an important step in the economic reconstruction of the Continent and also wanted to create material for home politics. He, like every politician, must shape his actions to keep in office, subordinating
this to the great objective of the game.

On April 23, I called that Lloyd George, fearing failure to take home any substantial accomplishments, considered the adroit political maneuver of isolating France, making France the villain in the piece, thus enabling him to say France was the obstructionist and of going before the voters of England with a promising political slogan.

France moved at first so that this seemed easy. Barthou's insistence on the Cannes resolutions and his unyielding front, played into the British Premier's hands. It was easy to make France appear to be the obstructionist and isolate her.

But France, too, is an old hand at the diplomacy of the same kind and the others are playing a selfish nationalism shaped by domestic political necessities.

Lloyd George Apparently Check-
mated.
During the long controversy over the Russian proposals, France maneuvered her position so that today
it looks impossible for Lloyd George
to play the game of isolating France
by labeling her as the sole obstacle.
She is playing England's game, attempting to isolate England and pointing to her as the sole Power determined to shake hands with Bolshevik Russia. If she is successful, England will be isolated and would have to give way in the face of overwhelming European sentiment against too easy terms for Russia.

The game is not alone between England and France; all 30 are in it.
At the moment of writing, the Russian reply has not been delivered,
but its expected character is not promising of an immediate agreement between the Powers and the soviets. If the Powers break negotiations and the conference adjourns or evaporates, Russia will be left free to make individual terms with the various Governments and perfect numerous private treaties. Such a position would suit Russia, but not Europe.

The soviets are highly encouraged because there are a flock of persons here who are blinded by illusions regarding the value of concessions. The soviets believe they can make individual treaties with England, Italy, the Scandinavian countries, etc., but the great Powers fear that if Russia is left free, there will be a welter of treaties, deals and trades resulting in extreme tension between nations.

The feeling in Europe over the Russian company's deal in the Baku region illustrates this danger. It is not a tenable plan to complete the process of breaking off negotiations with Russia and ending the conference.

Belgium Figures in Plans.
The plan being considered in the highest quarters is for Belgium to propose a resolution that all nations
at Genoa agree to make no private agreement and declare invalid any private agreement made here. It is believed Germany would agree. The Russian treaty has been a definite political asset to the Wirth Government because it is popular in Germany, but it has tended to exclude

Body of Allen M. Fletcher Found in ST. LOUIS, May 11.—Allen

M. Fletcher of Cavendish, former Governor of Vermont, was found dead in a room at a hotel here today. Death was declared due to a cerebral hemorrhage.

Fletcher was accounted one of Ver-mont's richest men. He had extensive real estate holdings in Indianapolis.

Prohibition Unit May Be Transferred
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 11.—Transfer of the prohibition unit from the Treasury to the Department of Justice as part of the general scheme of governmental reorganization, was declared today to have received the approval of Secretary Mellon and Attorney-General Daugherty. The two Cabinet members interested in the change,

GETS DIVORCE FROM BRECKINRIDGE JONES JR.

Wife, Formerly Miss Mellon of Pittsburg, Testifies to Alleged Indignities.

MRS. BRECKINRIDGE JONES JR.

Germany from returning, as she had hoped, into the family of nations.
It is believed Germany would sacrifice the treaty to enter the circle
with the others. The road to invalidate the treaty lies in the attitude of the Reparations Commission, which has reserved the right to consider the past a violation of the Versailles treaty.

If Belgium makes this declaration,
another proposal should come from another quarter that the Russian question be referred to a commission which should hold meeting outside the range of the thousand journalists here. The commission would be composed of judicial representatives of the great Powers.

Functions of Commission.
The four functions of this commission would be:
1. Examination of the economic necessities of Russia, preferably with her own report from Russia.
2. To report on available loans, advances or credits which it would be possible to obtain for the reconstruction of Russia.

3. To report of the possibility of a consortium to control in Russia the exact nature of the expenditures
made from the proceeds of loans.
4. To reach an agreement with the adherent Powers providing for no separate agreements with Russia
while this commission is at work.

If England and Italy object, France and her association can point to England as the villain in the piece, as the obstacle to a sound agreement with Russia. As such a proposal is a way out, a nimble-minded statesman like Lloyd George might seize it for his own credit for establishing such a commission and thus avoid the isolation the French are preparing for him.

Niece of Former Ambassador
TO FRANCE WEDS FRENCH HERO

Marriage of Miss Sally Beecher and Count De Lappe Celebrated in Paris.

PARIS, May 11.—Fashionable Franco-American society thronged
the historic Madeleine Church at noon today for the wedding of Miss Sally Beecher, niece of former American Ambassador Hugh Wallace, and Count Jean Bertrand de Lappe, a war hero.

It was a brilliant social event and came as the climax to the Parisian social season before the departure of the notables for various watering places.

The witnesses were former Ambassador Wallace, Lord Derby, former British Ambassador to France, and the Marquis d'Olliverson.

The bride wore a white satin
Worth creation and a long lace veil that had been worn at the altar by her maternal grandmother.

Members of both families formed the procession, the women being noted for the beauty of their gowns.
Afterward a small reception was held at the Wallace home, to which only intimate friends of the families were invited. The gifts, including the beautiful jewels presented to the bride by the bridegroom, were on view. Their honeymoon will be passed on an automobile tour.

FUND SHORTAGE MAY CURTAIL
WORK ON STREETS THIS YEAR

Should Programs Not Be Carried Out, Improvements Would Be Deferred to Next Year.

Lack of funds to employ sufficient engineers and other technical experts to supervise the work of improving 23 1/2 miles of streets and 11 miles of alleys, included in the city's 1922 program, may force the curtailment of the work this year, but the certainty of this nor the amount of possible curtailment have been determined. If this year's program is curtailed the work would simply be carried over to next year.

That would have a resultant effect of retarding the program for 1923, which, as announced yesterday, is planned to be the largest in the city's history. It has been planned to improve 45 miles of streets and more than 16 miles of alleys in 1923.

MAN, WHO MADE CONFESSION, FREED OF MURDER CHARGE

Defendant Testified Police Had Beaten Him With Hose and He Signed to Escape Punishment.

KILLING IN ROOMING HOUSE LAST MAY

S. Beck, Man Acquitted, Quoted as Saying He Aided in Slaying Louis Clief
With Hatchet.

A jury in Judge Hogan's court yesterday set aside a confession obtained by the police and acquitted
Thomas S. Beck, 38 years old, of 1821 Olive street, of a charge of murdering Louis Clief, 54, in a rooming house at 108 South Sixteenth street, May 17, 1931. Beck repudiated the confession, asserting that the police had beaten him with a rubber hose to obtain it and that he signed it to escape further punishment.

Beck surrendered to the police several days after the murder, when he heard that he was being sought,
and after being questioned was released. Later William Nelson was arrested and signed a confession that he and Beck murdered Clief with a hatchet. Beck was rearrested and signed a confession that he was present when the murder occurred and that he struck Clief with his fist and Nelson used the hatchet. The confession that Nelson signed said both he and Beck struck Clief with the hatchet.

Both confessions said the motive of the crime was to obtain $300 that Clief was known to have possessed, with which Nelson was to have purchased the rooming house at the place where Clief was murdered.

Police testified that the confession was legally obtained and denied they had beaten either Beck or Nelson.

Emma Stacey, with whom Beck lived at 1714 South Broadway at the time of the murder, testified before the grand jury that Beck was away from home at the time of the murder, and at the trial charged her testimony to the effect that he was at home that day. She was held on a charge of perjury.

Beck was tried on this charge
Jan. 5, the result being a hung jury.

LUCKY DAY

On Friday, August 3rd, 1492, Columbus set sail from Spain on his memorable voyage,

And on Friday, October 12th, 1492, he discovered the shores of the New World.

Truly, Friday is a lucky day for those who voyage and discover,

Especially if they voyage to CHILDS and discover the delicious fish cakes served on that day—

Temptingly browned, and served with tomato sauce and spaghetti.

Address—The Needs of St. Louis—W. Frank Carter, chairman of the St. Louis Committee on Civic Needs.

A program given entirely by persons who are totally blind was broadcast by Radio Station K S D last night. Numbers on the program were songs, cornet and violin solos and an address, and every participant except two of the accompanists were sightless. Edward F. Endicott, an attorney, of St. Louis, and vice-president of the United Workers for the Blind of Missouri, arranged the program at the request of Station K S D. Endicott also took part both by an address on the educational problems facing the blind and a group of solos of artistic beauty. He was accompanied on the piano by his wife, who also is blind.

Other participants were Miss Agnes Bailey, soprano; Thomas Oster, baritone; Clifford Price, cornetist; and Thomas Dee, violinist. Dee is a teacher of violin, and the three others are students at the Missouri School for the Blind. All the performers have been blind from early childhood or were born blind and have obtained all their education in the way in which blind now are taught, by means of Braille.

Another System Advocated.

Endicott, in his talk, urged upon the people of Missouri that they insist upon installing in this State the system now used in Chicago of educating the blind in the public schools along with the sighted children. This, he said, would give the blind children a better start in life, would place them on an almost equal footing with their sighted companions, and enable them to take part actively, in a way they cannot do now, in the affairs of the world. Also, he said, it would maintain the family unit, a thing not now possible under the system in vogue in Missouri and in most of the other states. State schools for the blind now are boarding schools, and those who attend them must be away from home at least during school year until their education is completed.

Forty per cent of the trouble now encountered by the blind," he declared, "is due to the fact that sighted persons do not know or appreciate the real ability of the blind. They take it for granted that as soon as a person loses his sight he immediately becomes incapacitated. They not only think this but they continually tell the blind about it, and this makes the blind despondent, narrows their viewpoint, and they begin to believe it is true that they are incapable of earning a living or taking part in other affairs of the world. That causes mendicancy in some cases and emphasizes the wrong impression the general public already has of the blind.

"Missouri has a very small percentage of blind mendicancy. I am glad to say. Most of the blind in this State are self-supporting, and statistics show that 99 per cent of the blind beggars in any of the Missouri cities are persons who have come here from other States."

JEWELER QUESTIONED ABOUT HOLDUP REPORT

Creditors of Benjamin Grabinsky Have Him Examined in Bankruptcy Court.

A reported robbery at the home of Benjamin Grabinsky, 5545 Pershing avenue, president of the Jewelers' Exchange, formerly conducted at 409 Pine street, in which Grabinsky told detectives he had been robbed and bound and robbed of jewelry valued at $7,233, belonging to a New York concern, and money and other property of his own amounting to $445, is being investigated by creditors in bankruptcy proceedings against Grabinsky.

A policeman to whom Grabinsky reported the robbery, was questioned in the bankruptcy court yesterday by H. A. Gleick, representing the creditors. He produced his original report of the robbery. Gleick stated that Grabinsky, when examined several weeks ago, denied having included the New York concern's jewelry in the list of articles he had reported as stolen. Detectives who worked on the case will be summoned later, Gleick said.

Grabinsky, whose liabilities amounted to $47,000 at the time the bankruptcy petition was filed, was questioned yesterday about a shrinkage in his scheduled assets. It was disclosed that property he had valued at $7500 had been disposed of by the trustee for $2900. Grabinsky admitted that assets appraised by him at $10,000 probably would bring no more than $100.

He was asked why he had included a fire insurance policy for $10,000 in his list of assets when he must have known that the policy had no face value. He explained that it was a clerical error. He admitted also that $5000 in Liberty bonds listed as an asset were in the hands of the United States District Attorney, having been identified as having been stolen from a mail messenger in Jefferson City. He said the case of the bonds had not been settled and that he had put the bonds down as an asset in the belief that they would be returned to him later. He told of having purchased the bonds for $3800 from another man.

Grabinsky could not account for the disappearance of a cash book in which a record of sales made by the Jewelers' Exchange from Jan. 3 to March 11 of this year was kept, and the hearing was continued until next Wednesday, at which time Grabinsky's bookkeeper will be examined.

BUILDING IS BEING READJUSTED, RETIRING EXCHANGE HEAD SAYS
In Dinner Talk, Hannauer Asserts That Gain in Permits Was Shown in April.

Joseph W. Hannauer, retiring president of the Real Estate Exchange, at a dinner in the Flamingo Hotel last night to inaugurate his successor, Orman J. McCawley, said that the readjustment in building, in a large measure, had already taken place.

"Reports from St. Louis, Memphis, Little Rock, Louisville and Evansville show that the building permits in April were more numerous than in the previous month," he said, "and more so than in the corresponding month of 1931. Savings deposits of this district, compared with last month, have increased, showing that the people have money. They are shoppers now and this is the day of salesmanship."

Other speakers besides the guests of honor were Clark McAdams, of the Post-Dispatch, George L. Corliss, dean of the Benton College of Law, and Dr. R. Emmett Kane, Walter B. Wolsenburger was toastmaster, and the Rev. John W. McIvor gave the invocation.

NOT MUCH CHANGE OF SHORT OIL MEASURING IN ST. LOUIS

Gasoline Pumps Inspected Twice Each Year by City and Adjustments Made to Prevent Tampering.

Commenting on news of a New York State flying squadron to check the accuracy of gasoline pumps at filling stations, Commissioner of Weights and Measures Schloeman said today that he had learned of no indications of dishonest measuring by St. Louis filling stations. He said he did not think there was much chance of dishonesty in this regard.

Twice a year his deputies inspect each of the approximately 500 gasoline pumps in the city, their visits being unannounced. The pumps are tested by measuring their discharge in a standard can, which has a gauge. Only a slight variation from exact measurement is allowed. If minor adjustments of the pumps can be made by the inspectors, this is done; otherwise the owners are ordered to have them repaired. About 30 pumps were condemned for repairs last year. The adjustments of the pumps are sealed after each inspection, to prevent tampering.

JURY FINDS BLOCH KILLED ROBBER IN SELF-DEFENSE

Verdict Returned at Inquest in Case of Charles Richards, 23, Wounded Early Sunday.

BLOCH AND WIFE TELL OF HOLDUP ATTEMPT

Were Confronted by Man After Putting Car Into Garage—11 Shots Fired in Duel That Followed.

A coroner's verdict of homicide in self-defense was returned today in the shooting of Charles Richards, 23 years old, who was fatally wounded by Gilmore Bloch, Sunday, at 1:15 a. m., when he accosted Mrs. and Mrs. Bloch in the driveway alongside their apartment at 5861 Nina place. Richards died yesterday afternoon in the city hospital.

Both Bloch, who is 28 years old and a son of the late Leo Bloch, a real estate dealer, and his wife, testified at the inquest. Their story was substantially as follows:

They were returning from a card party at the Elks' Club when at Laurel avenue and the Wabash tracks, a Ford automobile crowded them and later, they perceived, followed them. They had placed their own automobile in the garage in the rear of their apartment and Mrs. Bloch was standing outside the garage waiting for her husband to close the door, when she perceived two men alongside the driveway.

Eleven Shots Fired.
"Oh, look, Gil," Mrs. Bloch exclaimed. One of the men ran towards her, calling, "Hey, stop." He took hold of her left arm. Bloch had turned in response to his wife's outcry and drew an automatic pistol. He fired once into the ground and the man began firing also. Mrs. Bloch ran to the shelter of the apartment building, while her husband and the man kept up a fusillade. It later was determined that 11 shots were fired, six by Bloch and five by the man.

The man fell and cried: "You've got me; don't shoot any more. Oh, my God, have pity on me."

Bloch said that he heard the man say something else, but could not make out what it was. He said that two of the man's shots were fired at him and three at his wife.

Companion Fled.
The second man, at the beginning of the firing, had fled in the automobile which Bloch thought was the one that had followed his car. He was pursued by citizens attracted by the firing, but escaped.

It was established at the inquest that a charge of highway robbery against Richards in 1929 was nolle prossed.

Richards' death followed that on Tuesday of William Hanratty, an ex-convict, who was shot by a policeman when he attempted to escape in connection with a drug store hold-up. In that case a coroner's verdict of justifiable homicide was returned.

COLLIE MOURNS AT FUNERAL OF BOY—MASTER KILLED IN CAVE-IN

Dog Unconsoled Over Death of Lad He Tried to Rescue From Collapsed Tunnel.

By the Associated Press.
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 11.—A collie was one of the chief mourners at the funeral here yesterday of its master, J. D. Carsh, an 11-year-old boy, who was killed Monday when a tunnel he and his playmates had dug caved in.

The collie, during the funeral service in the chapel, took a place under the coffin, where his howls were so frequent as to interrupt the proceedings. When the coffin was placed in the hearse to be taken to the train, the dog jumped in and all efforts to remove him were unavailing.

It Conquered all Europe—But Yields to trade Conditions

Europe's extremity is America's opportunity—Let all music lovers profit—Now!

THE first rule of business is—find your market. When a normal market suddenly fails—then the need arises to find another. This is exactly what the Autopiano Company is compelled to do today—and therein lies your advantage if you come now and profit by it.

Some 235 good homes in St. Louis will benefit by this unusual export sales event. These few fortunate purchasers will have the satisfaction of knowing they not only possess a player-piano endorsed by princes and prelates, but they have secured it as a trophy—one of the prizes of war, so to speak.

It should be a matter of no little pride to be able to say to admiring friends: "This is the world-famed Autopiano—a genuine export instrument—the same as owned by the King of Spain, the Shah of Persia, Cardinal Mercier, the Queen of the Belgians, and many other notables. This type of player-piano is now in the Vatican at Rome—approved by the Pope."

Conditions of Sale

- 1—Our purchase for this sale was restricted to 235 Autopianos. When these special export instruments now on our floor have been sold, they cannot be augmented in number or duplicated in character.
- 2—An unalterable rule of this sale is—"first come will be first served" and that each and every purchaser will obtain the identical instrument he or she personally selects.
- 3—The price of these Export Autopianos, for this sale only, is $585. This price must not be construed as applying to regular domestic construction models.
- 4—Your first deposit may be as low as $10, or your payments may be spread over a period covering as long as 36 months—3 full years.
- 5—A Player Bench to match the Autopiano, and an ample supply of Music Rolls especially desirable in every home, are included at the sale price without extra charge.
- 6—These Autopianos are guaranteed without reserve for five years from date of purchase—each purchaser receiving a written guarantee to that effect.

An extremely liberal price and long payment plan make it easy to buy

Very wise buyers in these days are conservative in their expenditure of money. They realize that now is the time when every dollar must be made to purchase more than a dollar's worth. This is the one best reason why you should patronize this sale.

Every dollar spent here now does double duty. It returns more in actual value and enjoyment than if spent in any other way. Music is not a luxury when you secure an investment like this. To buy here now is to practice judgment and—thrift.

Today—tomorrow—every hour here we demonstrate the value of money—by such buying opportunities as you have never seen—and will never see again, because world wars do not happen every year; by such low price and liberal terms as put this superb Autopiano within the reach of all. An exceptionally fine instrument—an unusually attractive price—an easily arranged plan of payment. Come in and see what you can do with—TEN DOLLARS.

NOTE—The prices quoted in this sale, are GUARANTEED to be the lowest EVER OFFERED in St. Louis for De Luxe Model Autopianos.

TWO-FISTED SKIPPER'S

TALE OF TOUGH VOYAGE

Fighting, Mutiny, Storm, Murder and Rum, Mark Story of Grain Ship's Trip.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Capt.
George Bergsten, a two-fisted skipper, yesterday warped the Shipping Board steamer Eastern Ocean alongside her pier with the pithy remark that he had completed one of the toughest voyages in his life.

Contributing to the toughness was a series of fights which rose in a crescent to a full-fledged mutiny, requiring the assistance of a United States destroyer at Novorossiysk before it could be quelled, according to the captain's story.

The Eastern Ocean put out from Philadelphia in January with a crew recruited along Philadelphia's waterfront. This crew, the captain said, turned out to be an old-fashioned hard-fisted outfit, such as seldom sails the high seas nowadays.

Two days out the first fight started. Cooks and stewards staged it in a ring made by their cronies. The captain overlooked it.

For the next three days the battling continued steadily. It could not longer be overlooked. Twice the captain, a six-footer weighing 250 pounds, said he had been compelled to break into the ring and "beat up"
the combatants.

On the fifth day two cooks staged
a knife duel and went to the hospital. Two stewards picked up the duel where the others had left off and they, too, went to sick bay for repairs. Then the four sick men started to fight among themselves.

7-Day Scrap With Storm.

For seven days the fighting was halted because all hands were compelled to fight nature. The Eastern Ocean had run into a storm. At its height she struck something beneath
the waves and shipwreck loomed.
With automatic in hand, Capt. Ber-gsten kept his ugly crew bailing, although several times some of them tried to man boats and go over the side.

Finally, 13 days out of Philadelphia, Capt. Bergsten beached his steamer near Novorossiysk, threw 2000 tons of what overboard and lightened the ship by loading the rest on smaller vessels he had called to his aid.

Steaming out of Novorossiysk, however, the real mutiny began. The chief engineer, the captain said, demanded salvage for saving the ship
and the crew backed him up.

"My officers and myself fired revolvers over the heads of the men
several times," said the captain, "and kept them at bay. In the harbor was a United States destroyer and I finally asked them for help.

Short but Vicious Fight.

"They sent 40 men and officers aboard. There was a short but vicious fight," the chief engineer was put into irons and taken ashore and the men were sent to quarters.

"It was then I learned the men had brought rum aboard. They were members of a notorious Philadelphia
water-front gang and did nothing but fight. We went to Constantinople to load before returning home."

Capt. Bergsten, on docking, learned that two cooks missing when he left Constantinople had been arrested on the charge of murdering two British soldiers.

outlying districts, Chief of Police O'Brien today announced that he had decided to place Vasey at the Deer Street Station and McDonald
at the Wyoming Street Station.

In order to make room for Vasey
and McDonald, O'Brien transferred Lieut. Joseph Sullivan of the Deer
Street Station, and Lieut. James Lavin of the Wyoming Street Station, to the Carondelet Station. The changes are to be effective as of May 13.

Another change announced today
was the transfer of Probationary Patrolman Martin O'Brien Jr., who has been assigned to the Homicide Squad, to the Mounted District as patrolman.

Chief O'Brien has placed Detective-Sergeant Thomas Sheller in command of the Homicide Squad,
and a detective will command the Morality Squad, thus relieving Night
Chief Rundle of this detail.

Gen. Cepeda Defeated.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, May 11.—Gen.
Cepeda, who started an uprising in Puebla last week, has been defeated by the Federales at Los Mar-gon, Puebla, and seriously injured,
according to a report issued by the War Office today. Gen. Antonio
Medina, chief of staff for Cepeda,
according to one of two prisoners,
was killed during the battle. This prisoner is alleged to have disclosed
the complete plans of Cepeda's revolt, which was to start May 7 with the blowing up of a Vera Cruz-Mexico City passenger train. Col.
David Breston, entrusted with the task, came on to Mexico City and he reported to the War Department.

JURY FAILS TO REACH VERDICT

IN THANKSGIVING MURDER CASE

HENRYETTA, Ok.—The jury in the case of Jim Henry, charged with the murder of Andy Dickerson on Thanksgiving day, 1921, failed to agree, and were discharged and a new trial ordered. Henry is a son of Hugh Henry, of Indian blood, and was born on the old Coal Creek ranch, now a part of the city of Henryetta, the city taking its name from Hugh Henry and that of his wife, Etta Henry.

The trouble culminating in the death of Dickerson is said to have been engendered in a drinking bout

in which the men, formerly bosom companions, engaged in a rough and tumble fight, when Henry, who was unarmed, succeeded in getting hold of Dickerson's pistol, and fired the shot that resulted fatally.

cleansing method is wrong

USE this famous treatment to keep your skin free from blackheads:

Each night before retiring apply hot cloths to the face until the skin is reddened. Now with a rough washcloth work up a heavy lather of Woodbury's Facial Soap and rub it into the pores thoroughly with an upward and outward motion.
Rinse with clear, hot water, then with cold. Finish by rubbing your face for 30 seconds with a piece of ice.

Begin this treatment tonight. Within a week or ten days your skin will show a marked improvement. The Andrew Jergens Company.

PESKY BED BUGS

Bedbugs lay an average of seven eggs per day. Under favorable conditions they hatch in five days of which two-thirds are females. They mature to adult size and are capable of laying in four weeks. How many bedbugs would you have in a year if you left one female or egg unmolested for one year?

To rid the pesky bedbug, you really need a powerful preparation that will kill the eggs as well as the live ones.

P. D. Q. has been demonstrated by the leading hospitals, hotels and railroad companies that this is the most economical way to keep bedbugs from infesting your home.

GOULD HAZY ABOUT
$102,000 PAID HIM
IN RAILROAD DEAL

Questioned About Check
From Man Who Received
$1,000,000 Commission
for Buying Road.

CONNOR DENIES SUM
WAS PAID AS 'COVER'

Details of Financial Moves Involving Wabash and Other Roads Are Brought Out in Suit.

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 11.—The payment, in April, 1931, of $102,000 by Washington E. Connor to George Jay Gould was the chief thing which attorneys in the $12,600,000 suit by the receivers of the Wabash-Pittsburg Terminal Railway Co., against Gould and Myron T. Herrick, sought to have explained yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Finch.

Louis Marshall, attorney for the receivers, so framed his questions to Connor and Gould as to leave little doubt he regarded the payment as a rebate by Connor to Gould of part of the $1,000,000 commission he received from Gould and the latter's associates in the Pittsburg-Toledo syndicate for delivering to them control of the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad.

As far as he could judge from the memorandum at his disposal, Connor said he thought the check to Gould for $102,000 had been made out by him on March 30, 1931.
Denies Money Was "Cover."
Under questioning by counsel for Gould, Connor denied that the payment of the $102,000 to Gould was in the nature of a "cover" by which he gave back to Gould part of the $1,000,000, but said it represented Gould's share in the profits of another syndicate, the Cleveland, Canton & Southern, to which the witness said he was a subscriber.

Gould was very hazy concerning the details of this payment of $102-000. He finally stated it must have been from his interest in the Cleveland & Canton syndicate and added
he was under the impression his connection with that syndicate was in 1925, four years after the Wheeling & Lake Erie road was obtained.
Connor, however, testified the Cleveland, Canton & Southern syndicate was formed on March 24, 1929 and
"closed out" on March 30, 1931.

When Gould first came to him with the proposition that he acquire control of the Wheeling & Lake Erie for the Pittsburg-Toledo syndicate, Connor testified, he demanded that in addition to the payment to him of $1,000,000 for his services, he be allowed to underwrite $2,000,000.

At this time, Connor stated he was one of the subscribers to the Cleveland, Canton & Southern syndicate, which owned a block of Wheeling & Lake Erie stock.
Extra Allotment Offered.
The first time that he mentioned
the Cleveland, Canton & Southern syndicate to Gould, Connor testified,
was when Gould came to him several weeks later and informed him that instead of participating in the Pittsburg-Toledo syndicate to the extent of $1,000,000, he would be allowed to underwrite $2,000,000.
He regarded the extra allotment
as very valuable, he said, because he could distribute it among people whose good will he was anxious to obtain, and he figured he was getting "three for one" when he voluntarily offered Gould a third of his profits from the Cleveland, Canton & Southern syndicate. This third, he said, amounted to $102,000.
The agreement with Gould over his participation in the Pittsburg-Toledo syndicate was verbal, Connor said. He admitted that the general custom was to have the syndicate managers submit their allotments to subscribers in writing, but stated that whenever he had participated in the ventures of Jay Gould it had been by verbal agreement and that he had continued the custom with George Jay Gould.

Questioned by Justices.
Justice Finch, at the conclusion of Connor's testimony about the $102-000, asked if he had not always been sure of $1,000,000 participation in the syndicate.

"Then you really got only $1-000,000 extra, which at 15 per cent
would mean a profit of $150,000, and one profit almost balanced the other," he said.

Connor insisted he had received
"three for one."

A letter written to Gould on Jan.
1, 1931, by Joseph Ramsey Jr., one of the managers of the Pittsburg-Toledo syndicate, was read into the record by Wallace.
Although conceding that a line
connecting Pittsburg with the Wabash at Toledo could be built for less than the acquisition of the Wheeling & Lake Erie would cost, Ramsey stated the latter was a very valuable property with good revenue-producing coal freight and declared
it would be dangerous to leave the Wheeling & Lake Erie out of the project. In that case, he said, the Wheeling & Lake Erie would either have to build an entrance of its own
into Pittsburg or sell out to interests that were anxious to keep Gould and the syndicate out of the Pittsburg district.

While Gould was on the stand, Marshall questioned him about his removal as trustee of his father's estate in 1919, the impounding of his interest by his brothers, and the Western Union transaction in which

Gould paid Thomas L. Chadbourne
Jr. $125,000 and retained $620,000
commission which eight years later
he turned over to his father's estate.
"The amounts are correct," Gould said, "but I don't think the statement is fair that Chadbourne was acting as my agent. I didn't ask him to. He was acting as intermediary for the telegraph company as much as for me."

Neuritis—Feels 20 Years Younger

W. F. Whelan, 250 Fort St. West, Detroit, Mich., writes: "I have taken Cadumene tablets and am on my fourth tube. Have been troubled with Neuritis for five years. I feel about as young as I did 20 years ago; am 47 now. I will probably take them for about five months more. If this testimonial is of any benefit to humanity, you may spread it on paper and send it everywhere." Cadumene tablets, the favorite prescription of a great physician, are recommended to nervous,
worn-out, tired people with nervous-indigestion,
sleeplessness, irritability, and impoverished blood.
These tablets are tonic to the various organs and soon restore health and strength, by supplying phosphorus and iron, enriching the blood, and increasing the Nerve-Force. Sold by good druggists

SIX HOLDUPS REPORTED; ALL ROBBERS ESCAPE

Couple Robbed and Couple Stolen; Woman's Rings Taken on Street.

Miss Ruth Ruebe, 1229 Soudard street, and William A. Blackman, 317 Madison street, were seated in the latter's coupe on the Weber road, just east of the Gravois road, at 12:15 a. m. today, when two men drove up in a sedan. Pretending that their engine was out of order, they asked Blackman to assist them. As he stepped from his car the men drew revolvers and ordered him to put up his hands. The robbers took $17 and a watch from him. Miss Ruebe slipped her wrist watch behind the seat cushion.

The robbers then ordered her to get out. She informed them that she had no valuables. They then told her that all they wanted was the coupe. As they drove away in Blackman's car they told him to use the sedan.

Blackman drove the sedan to the end of the Cherokee car line, where he turned the machine over to a police, and he and Miss Ruebe took a street car to their home. Blackman's coupe was recovered at 4 a. m., at Sixth and O'Fallon streets, but Miss Ruebe's watch was missing.

The sedan later was identified as the property of Jacob Aranson, 4214 A Page boulevard, who reported it was stolen at 7 o'clock last night from Eighth and Olive streets. Fifteen minutes before Miss Ruebe and Blackman had been held up, Frank Fogler, 257 Bauman avenue, St. Louis County, was robbed of a watch and $11 at the same point by two men in a sedan, answering the description of the men who committed the other robbery.

Holdup Robbed of Diamond Ring. Mrs. Minnie Wagner, 3108 Alfred avenue, told the police that when returning from a shopping trip at 10 p. m. with her 8-year-old son, Armand, two men who had followed her from a street car held her up at Arsenal street and Alfred avenue, and at the point of a revolver compelled her to turn over her two diamond rings which she valued at $250.

Archibald de Bow, 5073 Cabanne avenue, reported that he was held up by two men on a ring avenue, near Washington terrace, at 9 p. m., and robbed of a diamond ring valued at $1500, a gold watch and $5. He said the robbers returned the watch when he told them it was a keepsake. The diamond ring, he said, was insured.

Holdup Robbed of Saloon.

William Gruenewald, 4208 North Broadway, was being held up by a masked robber in the yard in the rear of the saloon at 4127 North Broadway, at 11:20 p. m., when the bartender, John A. Trimp, 4154 Grinnell place, opened the back door. Pretending that he had not seen anything, Trimp closed the door, ran out the front way and summoned Patrolman Walsh. The latter reached the back yard in time to see the robber jump a fence. Walsh fired several shots as the robber fled down an alley.

Edward Meyers, 4355 Evans avenue, while delivering milk at 4313 Evans avenue at 3:15 a. m. today, was held up by a man on the sidewalk who, after taking $2 from Meyers, helped himself to a bottle of milk from the driver's tray and ran away.

NEW POLITICAL MOVEMENT IS ORGANIZED IN MICHIGAN

DETROIT, Mich., May 11.—A new political movement in Michigan, in which numbers of trade unionists and farmers are expected to join, is seen here following a recent organization meeting in Grand Rapids, attended by farmers from various parts of the State, and union labor representatives from 19 cities.

The convention entered Herbert F. Baker, a farmer of Westdock, and a member of the last State Senate, as a candidate for the United States Senate in the Republican primaries next September. The farmer-labor supporters decided to work through the Republican party rather than to organize a third party. Baker was the only candidate endorsed for any office, it being determined to defer selection of a complete political slate to a later meeting.

The Michigan movement is a part of the national campaign on the part of labor unions and farmers' organizations to bring about amalgamation of effort, it was indicated. The new branch of the Michigan party styles itself "The Michigan Progressive League."

During the Grand Rapids convention some delegates suggested that the new division support Woodbridge N. Ferris, former Governor, for the Senate, in the event Baker declined to enter the race.

Paper Makers Concede Terms.
NEW YORK, May 11.—The International Brotherhood of Paper Makers yesterday capitulated to the terms offered by the manufacturers two weeks ago, thus retaining the present wage scale, eliminating non-skilled organizations from consideration in future wage agreements and averting a threatened strike in the industry.

Tax on Autos Proposed in Sweden.
STOCKHOLM, April 13.—Motor traffic in Sweden has now become so general and the consequent deterioration of highways so great that the Minister of Finance has submitted a bill to the Riksdag proposing a tax on all motor-driven vehicles. The proposed tax on automobiles will net the state about 5,000,000 kronor (about $1,000,000) annually, all of which will be devoted to road maintenance. Towns and cities will receive one-fourth of the money thus collected and the rest will go to rural communities.

Former Police Board Head Testifies in Trial of Roy M. Schuster, Whose Car Hit Girl.

Victor J. Miller, former president and now a member of the Police Board, told in Circuit Judge Hogan's court today of the exciting chase through West End streets early Sunday morning, May 8, 1931, of two police automobiles after the speeding machine of Roy M. Schuster, 25 years old, 6245 Pershing avenue, which resulted in a young woman being knocked down and the shooting of Schuster by the police.

Schuster, who is the son of E. J. Schuster, president of the Schuster Printing Co., 21 South Ninth street, is being tried on charges of feloniously wounding Miss Helen Hegger, 17, of 4301 Minnesota avenue, and of leaving the scene of an accident.

Miller testified that the police machines, in which were "night riders" in civilian attire, were started in pursuit of Schuster's car about 1 a. m., when the police saw it speeding east on Delmar boulevard, near Taylor, with the curtains down. The officers suspected it might be the car of robbers, he said.

Miller in Second Car.

Miller, who was in the second police machine, said he saw the first car overtake Schuster near Grand avenue and Lieut. James Vasey get out on the running board and shout at Schuster. The latter, he said, then going at a high rate of speed, seemed to swerve his machine directly at the police car, which had been crowding him to the curb and brush by it, as it was forced to drop back to avoid a collision. Schuster then turned south into Grand avenue and increased his speed to 40 or 45 miles an hour, Miller said.

The officers, Miller among them, then began firing into the air to halt Schuster, the former Police Board head said. Instead, Schuster went faster, narrowly missing automobiles and pedestrians.

Passing Olive street, Schuster's speed increased to 50 or 60 miles an hour, Miller testified. At Laclede avenue the pursued car dashed between an automobile near the west side of Grand avenue and a street car taking on passengers. Miller said he saw a woman knocked down and several other persons in the crowd stagger back as if they had been struck.

Convinced then, Miller said, that the man they were chasing was "more dangerous than 150 robbers," the officers in Miller's car began shooting directly at Schuster for the first time.

Schuster Wounded.

Under a fusillade of bullets, Schuster stopped his car about 565 feet south of Laclede avenue. He had been wounded in the left side and in the neck, and another shot had grazed his arm pit.

Attorneys for the defense asked Miller if he had not himself fired the shots that struck Schuster.

"I don't know," he replied, "but I wouldn't make any apologies if I had. The man was a menace to the life of everyone on the streets."

Miller testified that about 14 bullet holes were found in Schuster's car when it was examined. Replying to a defense question, he said that every officer in the pursuing cars had since been promoted. They included Detective Hengland, now Chief of Detectives; Detective Sergeant Walton, now Assistant Chief; Special Officers Ising and Gerard, now detectives; and Detective Vasey, now a Lieutenant.

Miss Hegger, who was knocked down by Schuster's machine, told of being struck by "something" as she was boarding the street car. She fainted, she said, and could not of her own knowledge, say what hit her. She suffered injuries to her spine and cuts and bruises.

Schuster's Explanation.

Schuster, when arrested, explained that he thought the officers pursuing him were toughs. He declared that they cursed him when calling on him to stop, and did not say they were officers. He was wounded shortly after turning into Grand avenue, he said, and became so faint that he partly lost control of his automobile and so struck several persons and collided with a machine. Realizing he was losing consciousness, he stopped his machine, he said.

Police records show Schuster had been arrested four times and had figured in three automobile accidents before the night of the shooting. He was arrested twice for driving his machine without proper lights, once for violating traffic regulations and once for causing a disturbance on a street car. Two collisions of his machine with street cars were recorded, and one instance in which it overtook.

Contributory negligence was the company's defense.

ORATORICAL FIRE AT SPENCER IN SENATE DEBATE ON LOWDEN CASE

RECORD OF $2500 LOWDEN GIFT IS WARMED OVER BY HARRISON AND WALSH

Missourian Defends Acceptance of Money by St. Louisan—Near-Special-Delivery of Postmasterhip Discussed.

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The President's withdrawal, at the St. Louisan's request, of the nomination of Nat Goldstein as Internal Revenue Collector at St. Louis, came last night after a hectic political field day in the Senate in the afternoon in the course of which Senator Spencer defended Goldstein on all counts, declaring that Goldstein had done no wrong in taking a $2500 check from the Lowden campaign managers.

Spencer was subjected to a hot fusillade by Senators Harrison of Mississippi, Walsh of Montana, and other Democrats who, taking their cue from the denunciation of Goldstein by former Gov. Lowden, got into the record again the full story of the Missouri campaign scandal of 1920.

Letter read by Spencer.

Spencer started the debate by reading Goldstein's letter to the President requesting that his name be withdrawn because of the nomination of the Missouri campaign managers. He said that the nomination had caused the administration. Spencer said that he presumed this would close the incident. He said that the willingness of Goldstein to sacrifice himself was indicative of the high character of the man.

Spencer then read a number of endorsements of Goldstein by prominent St. Louisans. One of them was a telegram received that morning from Murray Carleton, who expressed the hope that "neither political nor racial prejudice would outweigh his (Goldstein's) undoubted fitness to worthy and impartially discharge the duties of the office."

Others who endorsed Goldstein while he was being considered for the St. Louis postmasterhip, and whose letters were read into the record by Spencer, were Festus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Co.; W. F. Carter, at that time president of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce; Jesse McDonald, former Circuit Judge; B. F. Bush, president of the Missouri Pacific; and J. W. Hanauer, former president of the Real Estate Exchange of St. Louis.

Spencer said that nearly every one of these letters was from a leading Democrat. A great many others had been received from Republicans. He repeated that Goldstein was a man of the highest character and standing, and that if Goldstein had not voluntarily withdrawn he would have "remained with him constantly."

Nearly a Special Delivery.

Walsh of Montana quizzed Spencer about the effort to land Goldstein in the postmasterhip. Spencer said there was a general feeling in St. Louis among a great many friends of Goldstein that he should be made postmaster. He said that he would have recommended Goldstein if the latter had been a candidate, but that Goldstein, though he gave the matter some consideration, made up his mind that he could not take the place and never filed an application for it with the Civil Service Commission.

Walsh developed the fact that when the Postoffice Department got down to the business of naming a St. Louis Postmaster, it acted with great celerity. According to Spencer's recollection, the examinations were held in January and the appointment was made the following month. Walsh said that even if small communities it took from three to six months to get the result of examinations after the filing of applications, and expressed surprise that so short a time was required to fill the St. Louis vacancy.

"Up to President and away," Harrison congratulated Spencer "on partially extricating himself and his party at the eleventh hour from a very bad situation." He said he thought he could not take the "adroit hand" of the Senator from Missouri, when "at this late hour a letter was read from Mr. Gold-stained" asking the President to withdraw his name.

"Up to President and away," Harrison, "that the distinguished Junior Senator from Missouri has led the host right up to the precipice and at the eleventh hour has thrown that host party into a worse fix than if he had not toppled over."

Harrison warmed the gridle with the review of the testimony before the Senate campaign fund investigating committee of 1920. He said he spoke by the record in charging that two Missouri delegates had been "bought" with $2500 each from the Lowden campaign fund. No speech had been made regarding "Gold-stained," he said, that was not borne out by the facts disclosed in the record.

Spencer retorted that an injustice had been done to Goldstein. He said there was not a single word in the record to indicate any intention on the part of the Lowden managers to purchase, or on the part of Goldstein to be bought.

"There was a transaction as familiar in politics as any other trans-

Goldstein's Acts and Spencer's Defense of Them

THE Senate in May, 1920, on motion of Senator Borah, ordered an inquiry into the expenses of the pre-convention campaigns of presidential candidates of both parties. A subcommittee, appointed to make this inquiry, gave most of its time to the expenditures in behalf of Gov. Lowden of Illinois and Gen. Leonard Wood, then the two leading candidates for the Republican nomination. It developed that E. L. (Liv) Morse of Excelsior Springs got $23,000 of a total of $38,703 sent to Missouri in behalf of the Lowden candidacy. The names of those to whom Morse distributed the money were made public, including Nat Goldstein and Robert Moore, one of his deputy court clerks, both of whom were then elected delegates to the Republican National Convention. They were shown to have received $2500 each, before they were elected delegates.

Goldstein, when first asked about the matter by a Post-Dispatch reporter, said he had not received any money.

Later, Goldstein said he "had cashed a check for $2500," and that that money then went out into the State to be used in the Lowden campaign. "I hardly had it a minute," he added, "and in his previous statement, he had meant that he did not personally get the money. He said he was not then at liberty to name the man to whom he paid over the money. Moore later denied having received any money.

Goldstein and Moore were summoned to testify before the Senate subcommittee, and both there admitted the receipt of $2500 each. Their account of the matter was practically identical.

Goldstein testified that when he conferred with L. L. Emmerson, Gov. Lowden's campaign manager, and National Committeeman Babier, he was told that he would be needed for caucus or convention purposes, but that if Gov. Lowden were nominated, a good deal of money could be spent for him. Gov. Lowden, he said, used the $2500 checks to him and Moore, telling them to deposit them. He said he deposited the check in his bank, but that it was not in the nature of a trust fund. He said he expected to return the money if Lowden were not nominated. He said that the money was not spent, it would have been turned over to the district treasurer, Goldstein's ward, the Nineteenth, in the Eleventh Congressional District.

Goldstein was asked why he had denied to reporters that he had received the money. He replied, "Because I knew I'd made a mistake. The $2500 of Lowden money was given to Goldstein. He recalled that Goldstein said that he made a 'mistake' in referring to the publicity given the Missouri scandal at Chicago. Spencer said that he did not speak 'by the card,' but he knew that Goldstein's testimony by false recurrences before the public under 'great headlines, unfair and unfounded,' undoubtedly an impression of corruption was created.

"When that situation came to the attention of the Lowden managers, they decided that something had to be done to correct the impression, and so they made scapegoats of Goldstein and Moore," said the Senator.

For Party in Politics.

Spencer said that Gov. Lowden was mistaken in what he said about him. As for the rest, he hazarded the guess that Lowden had not refreshed his memory from the testimony of Goldstein, but was simply reiterating what he had said at Chicago.

Spencer said that no one could think more highly than he of the absolute necessity of purity in politics, but "there was not an shred of money tendered to Mr. Goldstein as a delegate for Mr. Lowden." He repeated that the money was for a legitimate campaign purpose.

Harrison asked Spencer whether he approved the giving of that money.

"I see no objection to it," Spencer replied. "I do not think there was a taint of corruption with either the offer or the receipt of it, and, as at the end of the campaign, the money for its use did not arise, it was returned, precisely as was indicated when it was received."

"At midnight he was called up by a representative of the press to find out whether he had received any money as a Lowden delegate. Now, mark you, some of the men who had had the Lowden money, the Lowden money, denied having received any of it, and Goldstein said to whoever the truth, and at midnight the first impression that came to Mr. Gold-

Harding Writes Official "Finis" on Spencer's Devoted Effort to Get Collectorship for St. Louisan.

GOLDSTEIN ON HAND FOR THE FINISH

Senator Lets It Be Known That St. Louisan Was a Caller at His Office Yesterday.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
20 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—President Harding last night wrote an official "finis" on the devoted effort of Senator Spencer to have Nat Goldstein confirmed by the Senate as collector of Internal Revenue for the Eastern Missouri District. The President withdrew the nomination at Goldstein's own request.

Goldstein in person was here at the finish. Senator Spencer let it be known today, when questioned, that Goldstein called on him at his office yesterday morning. He said that Goldstein departed for St. Louis after a few hours.

"Who wrote the letter in which Goldstein asked that his name be withdrawn?" Spencer was asked.

"Goldstein, of course," said Spencer. "And it was a fine letter—right from the heart."

"Will Goldstein Run Again?"

"Will Goldstein run again for Circuit Clerk?"

"Ask Nat Goldstein," replied Spencer.

Spencer said he had two or three men in mind for the Internal Revenue collectorship. One of them, he said, could have the job now if he would accept it. Those in mind, he added, included both city and country Republicans, but the preferred one was a St. Louisan. He thought that the position logically should go to a city man.

President Harding's withdrawal of the nomination, in compliance with the request of Goldstein in a letter laid before the Senate yesterday by Senator Spencer, who recommended the appointment, was formally communicated to that body at a brief executive session last night following a late session devoted to the tariff bill.

COMMITTEEMEN
"THINK GOLDSTEIN
'DEAD POLITICALLY'"

Party Workers Also Believe He Will Not Run for Renomination as Circuit Clerk.

Members of the Republican City Committee told a Post-Dispatch reporter today that they believed Circuit Clerk Nat Goldstein was "dead politically," and that they did not believe he would be a candidate for renomination. It was their opinion that the discussion, in the United States Senate, of his acceptance of $2500 from the Lowden campaign fund in 1920 had destroyed his future chances for public office. The party will be held in August, and the election in November.

While none of the committeemen would consent to be quoted, a Post-Dispatch reporter had no difficulty in ascertaining their sentiment. They felt that additional efforts to maintain Goldstein in office could only bring additional humiliation to him and embarrassment to the party.

The occasion, which members of the committee think apparently has made an end of Goldstein politically, was designed and intended expressly to make his position and that of the party leaders that, if he should seek renomination and election as Circuit Clerk this year, he would have rough sailing and that the party would suffer. Goldstein himself liked his present job, but consented to leave him through Senator Spencer. In planning to eliminate him from the local campaign, the Republicans have dreamed that they would make a national object of him.

The day for filing for the nomination for Circuit Clerk ended June 1. It is likely that the battered remnant of the "Court House Ring," of which Goldstein has been the leader, will put up another candidate, and it is likely that the Koeln-Forsell faction of the party will endeavor to wrest that nomination from the control of the Kiel-Goldstein faction.

Goldstein has been in St. Louis for 42 years old, and has been in politics more than 20 years, dating from his service as a precinct worker. The Circuit Clerk draws a salary of $5000 a year, and has the distribution of about 50 jobs.

Administration of State School System Should Be Taken Out of Politics and All Its Influences

Present System by Which Superintendent Is Elected Opens Way for Incompetent Partisans to Come Into Control of It.

THIS is the nineteenth article in the series Prof. Loeb is writing for the Post-Dispatch on the new Constitution, to make which delegates will assemble in Jefferson City next Tuesday. The series will be continued from day to day until it is completed. Prof. Loeb has been one of the most earnest agitators for a new organic law for the State and is widely known as an authority on constitutional subjects.

By PROF. ISIDOR LOEB,
Dean of the Faculty of Business and Public Administration and Professor of Political Science and Public Law in Missouri University.

EDUCATION—CONTINUED.

THE State Superintendent of Public Schools is the chief State official of educational administration. In the earlier period his functions were quite limited, but with the development of State aid and activity along educational lines the State superintendent has been vested with extensive powers of visitation, inspection, and control over the schools of the State.

An evidence of the growing importance of this department is given in the fact that its administrative force now numbers 27 as compared with seven 10 years ago. It has come to be recognized that the possession of such extensive powers over public education is incompatible with the political character of the office. As an elective official, the State superintendent is nominated in a party primary, takes part in the political campaign and is chosen as a party representative for a limited term. On account of these and other objections there has been a tendency in American states to substitute appointments for election to the office of the chief official of educational administration.

Today about one-third of the states have this official appointed instead of elected by the Governor or a state board of education. The tendency is in favor of the latter plan as it is the one followed with much success in the selection of superintendents of city school systems and presidents of state educational institutions. It makes merits rather than political affiliations the determining factor and substitutes continuity in the office for the uncertainty of the present system. While Missouri has secured some able superintendents under the present system it will be increasingly difficult to attract trained administrators under the conditions existing regarding tenure, term and compensation.

State Board a Problem, Too.

The constitutional convention will also be called upon to consider the composition of the State Board of Education. While there is a strong tendency in American states to establish a board of education as the head of the state's public school system, there is an almost equally decided movement away from the ex-officio board. A recent bulletin of the United States Bureau of Education contains the following statement:

"Of the 37 states with state boards of education, 22 have ex-officio boards, which usually comprise the Governor, the Superintendent of Instruction and one or more other state officials, such as Secretary of State, Attorney General, Treasurer, Auditor, etc. Of the 25 states, with appointed boards, 22 leave the appointment to the Governor, subject, in most cases, to approval of the State Senate. Four states leave the selection of the boards to the State Legislature. In one state it is left to the State Superintendents of Public Instruction."

The appointment of the board by the Governor has the weight of authority in its favor. Objection has been made that the Governor would interfere with the boards' policy. This has not been the experience in the case of our State boards for long terms for the members and gradual dissolution of the board would make it impossible for any one Governor to control.

Problem of Rural School Administration.

The rural schools have not shared proportionately in the development of public education in Missouri that has been outlined above. While improvement has been made, they are still far from securing graded elementary and secondary instruction under competent supervision. The prevailing rural school district is so small that it possesses neither the number of children nor the amount of taxable property needed to support a proper system of instruction. In the early period the township and county were school units, and the first local taxation authorized for school purposes was by the county. Population was too sparse at that time for this system, and subdivisions were authorized, and finally, in the act of 1874, these subdivisions became independent units of school administration. A County Commissioner of Schools was created by the act of 1882, but he had few functions aside from the examination and certification of teachers. In 1885, county supervision was established with an elective County Superintendent of Schools. This was abolished in 1872, when the office of County Commissioner was re-established.

County supervision was retained as a local option measure and adopted in 24 counties, but in 1909 the system was re-established for the entire State. While the County Superintendent has done much to improve the character of rural schools, he does not possess adequate powers regarding appointments of teachers and school administration. Moreover, as indicated above, the majority of the districts are too small to support the proper kind of schools.

Figures on Country Schools.

The report of the State Superintendent of Public Schools for the year 1920 gives official statistics which throw light upon this problem of rural education. Of the 948 rural school districts only 1420 had an average attendance over 40; 1999 districts had an average attendance between 25 and 40; 3576 between 15 and 25; 1635 between 10 and 15; while 862 districts had an average attendance of less than 10.

The figures regarding the assessed value of property in these districts which could be taxed for the support of their schools are equally enlightening. Three thousand nine hundred and seventy-five districts had an assessed valuation in excess of $40,000; 2747, between $30,000 and $40,000; 1912, between $20,000 and $30,000; 831, between $10,000 and $20,000; while 21 districts had an assessed value of less than $10,000. As the maximum tax rate that could be levied with the consent of a majority of the taxpayers was 65 cents on the hundred dollars' valuation, it is clear that even after adding the money received from State, county and township school funds, nearly two-thirds of all the districts could not maintain a satisfactory graded school. None of the 2747 districts with an assessed valuation of less than $50,000 could raise by local taxation more than $255 annually. Even if the income from other sources aggregated a similar amount the total would be quite inadequate to pay the salary of a satisfactory teacher for an eight month school year. It is noted that 4657 districts each had an average attendance of less than 25. It must be apparent that a graded system of instruction, becomes a practical impossibility in nearly two-thirds of the rural districts of the State. While full valuation has changed the above figures regarding assessed valuation and income it is evident that the situation is not half of the districts cannot maintain a satisfactory graded elementary school, to say nothing of a high school. While consolidation and State aid have greatly improved the situation in some districts they have not affected the great mass of the school population.

County Unit System.

Under these conditions there has developed a demand for a larger unit of school taxation and administration. In some states the township and in others the county has been selected as the district unit. As the township has never been of much importance in Missouri, the sentiment in this State has been for the county as the school unit.

An effort was made to bring this system into effect was passed in 1921, but has been suspended by referendum petitions, and will be voted on next November. Under this plan all school districts in a county except those now maintaining an accredited high school of the first class will be combined into one county school district, with a County Board of Education of six members, elected by the voters of the county for terms of three years, two retiring each year. The County Board elects a county Superintendent of Schools for a term not exceeding four years and acts largely upon his advice in its educational and financial administration. The local districts and Boards of Education are retained, with control over their own school buildings and with the right to nominate their teachers from an eligible list prepared by the county superintendent. The County Board determines the budget and a uniform tax rate for the entire county within constitutional limits and subject to the approval of a majority of the taxpayers when it exceeds 40 cents on the hundred dollars' valuation.

The County Board is to provide a four-year high school education for graduates of eighth grade schools either by establishing its own high schools or by paying tuition and transportation of pupils to some high school outside of the county district.

It is estimated that as a result of more economical management, the improved facilities can be provided without increasing the present average rate of taxation for school purposes in a county. Provision is made for the consolidation of city and town districts with the consent of the majority of the voters of each district. Evidence of the widespread desire for some system of this character is furnished by the replies of county superintendents to a request submitted by the State Superintendent regarding their attitude on this question. Of the 114 county superintendents 18 failed to answer, five indicated their opposition to the plan, while 91 stated that they favored the county unit for school administration. As it is not entirely certain that the plan may not in part conflict with constitutional provisions the Constitutional Convention will be asked to incorporate the principle of county unit in the Constitution.

Rates of Taxation for School Purposes. In a previous article it has been shown that the limitations upon the rates of taxation have caused difficulties in local governments under the system of low fractional valuations. The Constitution of 1875 limited the taxing power of Boards of Education to 40 cents on the $100 valuation, but provided that this rate could be increased to $1 in city and town districts with the consent of a majority of the voters who are taxpayers voting at the election. As school elections are held biennially in the large cities and it is very expensive to hold special elections, a constitutional amendment adopted in 1903 increased the rate that could be levied by Boards of Education in cities of 100,000 or more to 60 cents. While it is entirely proper to place restrictions upon the power of Boards of Education to levy taxes there seems no good reason why the taxpayer should not be permitted to exceed the limits established by the Constitution. Difficulty has also been experienced in distinguishing between taxpayers and nontaxpayers at a school election. It has also been urged that when the voters have once decided upon an increased rate this should stand until upon demand of a certain number the question is again submitted.

Another difficulty has arisen from the fact that the Constitution requires a majority of those voting at the election. As many do not vote either way on the tax increase, the proposition fails for lack of the majority required. A special election with attendant expense then becomes necessary. It would seem that a majority of those voting on the proposition would furnish all necessary safeguards. The most serious defect of the existing provisions is the discrimination against rural school districts. No satisfactory reason can be given why taxpayers in rural school districts should not be permitted to vote the same tax rate of $1 that is now in the power of such voters in city and town districts.

Pensions for Teachers. The provision of the Constitution prohibiting the giving of public money or thing of value to any individual or corporation prevented the granting of pensions to officials and employees. In 1933 an amendment was approved which permitted the Legislature to authorize cities to maintain pension funds for disabled firemen, but similar amendments regarding pensions for policemen proposed in 1933 and 1935, and for public school teachers, proposed in 1935, were rejected. At the latter election opposition to a proposed prohibition amendment defeated all of the 11 measures submitted, so that the vote is not clearly indicative of opposition to a system of pensions for public school teachers. While a compulsory provision for teachers' pensions is not desirable, it would seem proper to give the Legislature power to authorize large city districts to establish a system that would enable them to retire teachers after a long period of service and the attainment of an age that impaired their educational efficiency.

CURBING OF WAGE CUTS URGED BY LABOR SECRETARY DAVIS

Greater Restriction of Immigration Also Advocated Before Manufacturers' Meeting.

NEW YORK, May 11.—James J. Davis, United States Secretary of Labor, speaking before the National Association of Manufacturers here yesterday, urged that industry curb excessive wage reductions that it declared an armistice with labor and that it support more rigid restriction of immigration.

"Labor may have had its fits of arrogance, but employers themselves have not been without them, and at present the temptation to employers is to trim their wage scales to the needs of the hungry unemployed at their gates," he said. "Nothing could be a more tragic blunder of shortsightedness. 'Even in the business world things are never as constant as we would like to make them. Just now the pendulum has swung to the interests of the employer. As prosperity returns, the pendulum will again swing to the man who works. If you fill him with resentment now he will pay you back in the same coin when he gets the chance. 'The long view now is toward generous treatment. Lately business men have protested against too radical cuts in wages about them because it cuts down buying power. What can be sold to the working man who gets too little money?'

"FARMING OUT" OF RAIL REPAIR WORK IS HELD ILLEGAL

Decision on Contract Shop Repair Work by Outside Firm Is Made by Labor Board.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 11.—Contract shop repair work given to outside firms by a railroad company was declared a violation of the transportation act and contract provisions conflicting with the wages and working rules laid down by the United States Railroad Labor Board were branded illegal in a decision handed down by the board yesterday. The decision was characterized by the board as the most important it has rendered since its establishment.

The decision, which is the first of a series of judgments to be handed down on disputes over "farming out" railroad labor, was made in the controversy between the union shop crafts and the Indiana Harbor Belt Railroad. The board declared its pronouncement went "to the vitals of the transportation act." "No more important dispute," the decision added, "has ever come before this board for adjudication."

36 Such Cases Pending.
While the decision applied only to the one road which last September contracted its repair work to the Burnham Car Repair Co., the general principles established will govern all subsequent decisions. There are now 36 such cases pending before the board, involving 17 railroads, and union officials have intimated that unless they can escape the rapid spread of contract shop work, there would be a flood of protests filed before the board. Each case, however, will be decided on its own merits, the board announced, but the principles of the Indiana Harbor Belt decision would stand.

Under the decision, thousands of former railway employees now working for contractors at wages varying from the labor board scale are formally brought back under the board's jurisdiction. Rules varying from those laid down by the board are likewise, in effect, declared illegal and the contractors' employees restored to the working rules promulgated by the board.

Points in Decision.
The board declared in its decision that if a railroad company could remove its employees from the jurisdiction of the labor board, as was contended in the Indiana Harbor Belt case, "then the entire transportation act can be nullified and the will of the Congress of the United States set at naught." At present various roads have contracted to independent companies the work of six different classes of employees—shopmen, maintenance of way laborers, clerks, firemen and oilers, hostlers and signalmen—and the board declared that if one class of employees could be taken out from under the transportation act "there is no sound reason why each and every railroad employee in the United States cannot be given like treatment."

"The object of the transportation act was to prevent interruption of traffic growing out of disputes between carriers and their employees," the decision said. "Such controversies had, for years, periodically harassed the public, blocked commerce, stagnated business, destroyed property values, and visited great inconvenience and suffering upon millions of people. Congress endeavored to provide a method of adjustment for railroad labor disputes in the transportation act by providing for conferences between employers and employees. When the act speaks of employees it undoubtedly contemplates those engaged in the customary work of operating the railroads. It is absurd to say that carriers and their employees would not be permitted to interrupt commerce by labor controversies unless the operation of the roads was turned over to contractors, in which event the so-called contractors and the railway workers might engage in industrial warfare ad libitum."

"A strike by the employees of a contractor or contractor-agent of a carrier would as effectively result in the interruption of traffic as if the men were the direct employees of the carrier."

The board pointed out that the public would be deprived of protection against strikes if employees of a railroad contractor were not placed under the board's jurisdiction as well as bona fide railway employees.

The Indiana Harbor-belt case was one of the first to come before the board, the first contract being let by the road Jan. 29, 1921. Subsequent agreements extended the operations of the repair company until a contract on Sept. 16, 1921, gave the repair work to the Burnham company in seven shops. Meanwhile similar cases of farming out work appeared on the Erie, New York Central, Missouri, Kansas & Texas, Michigan Central and numerous other roads. Some of these contracts have resulted in strikes and all have brought protests to the Labor Board.

"The contractor performs only one useful function," the decision said. "He is the medium through which piecework was substituted for the lawfully established wage scale. To all intents and purposes the contractor's operations constitute a department of the carrier."

NEBRASKA COUPLE, MARRIED 62 YEARS, NEVER HAD A QUARREL

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Cook Traveled to Falls City From Illinois in Ox-Cart in 1860.

FALLS CITY, Neb.—More than three-score years of married life with not a quarrel to blight their bliss is the record of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Cook, Falls City pioneers, who quietly celebrated their sixty-second wedding anniversary here.

Ceremonies for the occasion were dispensed with this year, owing to the poor health of Mr. Cook, who recently celebrated his eighty-third birthday. His wife, who is 83, boasts that she has never experienced a serious illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook came to Richardson County immediately after their marriage in 1860. They traveled the entire distance from Illinois by ox-cart.

Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Druggists Guarantee First Pint Bottle of Allenbun to Show the Way to Complete Recovery

Mr. James H. Allen of Congress Avenue, Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of countless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits are dissolved by the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

This idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from the stricken.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called ALLENBUN, to others, who took it with what might be called marvelous results. He decided to let sufferers everywhere know of his discovery through the newspapers and instructed druggists to guarantee full satisfaction or money refunded. All druggists can supply you.

PURPORTED GERMAN-RED MILITARY CONVENTION

Berlin General Staff Said to Have Agreed to Furnish Arms, Artillery and Airplane.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, May 11.—The newspaper L'Eclair today printed the text of a military convention said to have been signed by representatives of the Russian soviet army and the German General Staff in Berlin on April 3 by the principal clause of which the Germans agree to furnish the red army with the arms and material necessary to equip 180 regiments of infantry and sufficient heavy field artillery for 50 infantry divisions.

The German General Staff, according to the purported convention, is pledged to reorganize the Russian Baltic and Black Sea fleets and to supply at the earliest possible date 800 new airplanes, together with a supply of spare parts, and also field train 60 Russian instructors in the latest discoveries and inventions of chemical warfare and send technical experts to Russia to speed up munitions plants and open new factories.

The red army staff guarantees the establishment in Russia of three German plants, one for the manufacture of airplanes, one for poison gas and one for arms, on condition that the Russian army can use the output when needed.

German specialists would be admitted to "the new arms factory in Afghanistan."

The text printed by L'Eclair also says the Russians would promise to maintain not less than 15 infantry and eight cavalry divisions on the Western frontier. The red army staff further would agree to increase the capacity of the Alexandrovsk and Nikolievsk railroads.

Finally, the convention says, the two staffs will prepare a joint plan of operations for Russia's access to the Baltic Sea, and the contracting parties bind themselves to keep the convention secret.

The document is signed, according to the newspaper, by Novitski Stanislas, Major-General von Secht, Vice Admiral Behncke, Lieut. Scharf and Maj. Petter.

FAMOUS ANIMAL TRAINER CALLS ST. LOUIS ZOO BEST IN COUNTRY

German Animal Agent Sells $6000 Worth of Tigers, Bears and Zebras to Society.

George E. Diekmann, president of the Zoological Society, announced today the purchase of a pair of royal Bengal tigers, two zebras and three polar bears for the zoo. They were bought from Heinrich Hagenbeck of Hamburg, Germany, the famous animal trainer.

Hagenbeck spent most of the day at the zoo, and pronounced it the finest in the United States. He said Chicago had been negotiating with him to establish one like it there.

The polar bear section will be ready for occupancy about Dec. 1. The tigers and zebras will arrive in about a month. The purchase price of the bears was $2000, the tigers $2000 and the zebras the same amount, a total of $6000.

Don't Overlook These New and Important Uses for Kingsford's Corn Starch. Helps You to Save Money

It is not necessary to purchase both a bread and a pastry flour. By using quarter cup of Kingsford's Corn Starch
to three-quarter cup of any good flour the percentage of gluten is decreased and the starch content increased so that home prepared flour will make a lighter and finer grained cake.

If your recipe calls for four eggs to one quart of milk,
use three eggs, and for the egg omitted use half tablespoonful of Kingsford's Corn Starch.

For smoother, glossier gravies
and sauces use a dessert spoonful of Kingsford's instead of a tablespoonful of wheat flour.

For lighter, flakier biscuits, pie crusts and muffins, make your pastry flour with one-fourth cup of Kings-

fourths cup wheat
flour.

TRADE COUNCIL URGED AT GROCERS' MEETING

Head of Food Brokers' Association Says Measure Would Benefit Consumer.

A trade council composed of representatives of all associations in the food industry was advocated by James L. Ford Jr. of New Orleans, president of the American Food Brokers' Association, at yesterday's session of the convention of the American Wholesale Grocers' Association, formerly the Southern Association, at Hotel Statler. The name of the association was changed by unanimous vote yesterday on the grounds that it now has members in every state.

Ford urged that the associations work for the benefit of the entire food industry and consequently for the benefit of the consumer. He declared: "We are not divided in separate defensive camps—if we are we've missed the spirit of modern American business."

F. E. Kamper of Atlanta, president of the National Association of Retail Grocers, said the American Specialty Manufacturers had arranged to send representatives to the coming convention of his organization in Cleveland, to bring about some such union, and invited the wholesalers and brokers to join.

Grocery Stores Change Hands. Kamper said that distribution from manufacturer or producer to jobber and then to retailer is the natural method, and said the retailer does not make as much as is generally thought.

He quoted an officer of the National Chamber of Commerce to the effect that the bargain sale should be abolished, and that it was partly the fault of the merchant that the consumer believed he should get everything at a bargain. He said that the average grocery store, because of ill-qualified proprietors, changes hands every five years. "Wholesale Indispensable."

Fred Mason of New York, president of the American Specialty Manufacturers' Association, said the wholesaler is indispensable to the manufacturer, who needs the wholesaler to handle his warehousing, delivering, selling and collecting. There are almost 400,000 retailers in the United States, he said, with such rapid turnover of stores that most of them are amateurs, and 4000 wholesalers, of whom only 1 per cent fail yearly and 88 per cent discount their bills in 10 days. He said that selling direct to retailers by manufacturers was met by the manufacturers of private brands by wholesalers, and advocated a clean-up on both sides.

James Moore, president of the National Canners' Association, promised support of a recently revised "Golden Rule" contract which to some extent insures that the canner will not oversell his capacity to the embarrassment of the wholesaler whose orders he can then only partially fill. He said, however, that the control of production in an industry by contracts made in advance of the season, a practice which the canners have refused to end, amounts to control of the industry.

MOTHERS DEFEATED AT POLLS

By the Associated Press.
MUSKEGON, Mich., May 11.—Over the protests of mothers in the city, Muskegon has adopted, by will of the voters, daylight saving time for the spring and summer months.

The mothers fought the proposal to set the clocks ahead one hour on the ground it would disrupt the feeding schedules for their infants and therefore endanger the health of the children. During the campaign that preceded the special election at which the issue was decided, the mothers fought countless word battles against it. The majority of voters, however, turned a deaf ear to their entreaties.

THE WAY TO PREVENT STOPPED-UP PLUMBING

A Simple Method Every Housewife Should Know—Makes Pipes Run Freely—Saves Plumbers' Bills.
Here is a household hint that will save much plumbing trouble. When the kitchen sink, sewer drain, refrigerator drain, water closets or waste pipes show signs of clogging, dissolve two or three tablespoonsful of Electric Powdered Lye in a little water and pour directly down the opening. Use POWDERED Lye, not solid. Use only enough water to thoroughly dissolve the lye. Repeat the process if necessary. Clogged pipes will usually open quickly and should then be flushed thoroughly with hot water. The wise way is to pour the lye solution down all drains frequently, say once a week, as it will prevent the accumulation of grease and other waste matter.
Electric Powdered Lye is also a wonderful cleanser and purifier for use about the home—you will find many valuable recipes on the label—such as how to make hard or soft soap, how to soften water, how to make clothes washing easy, how to brighten cooking utensils and kitchen ware, how to clean floors, bath tubs, ice cream freezers, refrigerators, garbage cans, etc.
Electric Lye comes in both powdered and solid form. For plumbing and all household uses, get Electric POWDERED Lye. Avoids waste—pours freely. Comes in a convenient can with revolving sifting top that cannot come off, cannot get lost, recloses tightly and preserves contents. It is economical to buy—easy to use.

Second Death in Street Blast.
By the Associated Press.

explosion here yesterday died later. This made the second death from the explosion.

JUDGE CURRAN REPLIES TO CONGRESSMAN HILL

"As Long as He Confines My Impeachment to Congress, I'll Be All Right," Kansan Says.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
PITTSBURG, Kan., May 11.—Judge A. J. Curran of the Crawford County District Court, who was attacked in a speech at an anti-prohibition mass meeting in St. Louis by Congressman Hill of Maryland, said, when told of Hill's threat to ask Congress to impeach him:

"As long as Mr. Hill confines my impeachment to Congress, I'll be all right."

Judge Curran's court is a State tribunal, and he is not subject to the action of Congress.

April 8 last, at Girard, a man and his wife from Ringo, a coal mining camp, persistent violators of the State prohibition law, were arraigned before Judge Curran. They were charged with violating an injunction issued against them some time before.

"We are going to padlock your house," Judge Curran said. "If the padlocking does no good, we'll destroy the house." In 1911 and 1912, several buildings were destroyed by the Court's order, when injunctions proved ineffective in stopping liquor law violations.

The Judge's threat, as cited by National Prohibition Commissioner Haynes in a bulletin on the progress of prohibition enforcement, was what occasioned Congressman Hill's denunciation at the St. Louis meeting.

Judge Curran is the Judge who tried most of the cases against Alexander Howat, leader of striking coal miners, and who sentenced him to jail for contempt of court.

MAN HELD HERE FOR GALVESTON POLICE DIES AT CITY HOSPITAL

Former Service Man Accused in Connection With Assault Succumbs to Pneumonia.

Leroy Earl Hodson, 23 years old, who said he had no home, a former soldier, being held for the police of Galveston, Tex., died at the city hospital last night of pneumonia for which he had been taken to the hospital Monday from the holdover.

The young man was arrested by detectives at Sixth and Walnut streets May 5, and when he gave his name they recalled a letter written here in April by Maj. S. O. Eiting of Galveston, asking the police to be on the lookout for Hodson and a soldier who had deserted there and later had assaulted a chauffeur in stealing an automobile.

Hodson admitted being the man wanted, but said he had no hand in assisting the other man to desert or in the assault. He had been out of the army for several months on a discharge. Communications later from the military and civil authorities at Galveston asked that Hodson be held until the grand jury there could take up the case.

Death Believed to Have Been Accidental.

By the Associated Press.
JACKSON, Miss., May 11.—After investigation and close questioning of her husband, Jackson police are convinced that the shooting and subsequent death of Mrs. Miles Buckingham, wife of a Memphis business man, was accidental, according to local authorities. Buckingham was questioned last night just prior to his departure for Memphis with the body of his wife. The shooting occurred near Pickens, Holmes County, about 11 o'clock Tuesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Buckingham were making an automobile trip from the Mississippi coast to Memphis.

CLOTHING.
NEW ORLEANS.—Manufacturers of summer clothing state that buyers are accepting shipments for immediate needs only and there is a disposition to defer deliveries.

OIL.
CHICAGO.—Many oil men are predicting another advance in the price of gasoline in this territory. The filling station price here is 24 cents, with the tank wagon price 22 cents.

WOOL.
DETROIT.—The 1921 farm bureau wool pool holding approximately 2,000,000 pounds has been closed. Increased wool prices led many raisers to dispose of their clips for cash instead of joining the pool, yet the bureau declares they have all the wool they care to handle. Prices have reached a point where sheep raising is profitable, it is declared.

COFFEE.
NEW ORLEANS.—Improved facilities for handling coffee have attracted heavy shipments to this port. It is estimated that importations in the next 30 days will aggregate 400,000 bags, a new record.

STEEL.
CHICAGO.—Steel mills in this district are booking more steel than they are shipping. The leading interest is producing at the rate of 86 per cent of capacity and the leading independent at 65 per cent.

PUTS BLAME ON PUBLIC IN CASES OF FLIM-FLAM

Business Bureau Manager Says Desire 'to Get Something for Nothing' Is at Fault.

Desire of a great part of the public to get something for nothing is responsible for many of the frauds practiced on buyers and investors. E. J. Brennan, manager of the Better Business Bureau, declared yesterday in an address before the Arcade Business Men's Association, in the Arcade Building, on "Who Is to Blame, the Crook or the Sucker?" He also spoke before the Progressive Business Men's Association at 3121 South Grand avenue.

"Life is replete with fish and fishermen and the same reason, greed, that causes the fish to lose its life, causes the human bait-grasper to lose his money," Brennan said. "Take away greed, do away with the desire to get money and wealth without effort and beyond reason, and the fishermen that line the stream of investment and business will go without a catch."

"The hope of getting what appears to be a wonderful bargain, the lure of something for nothing or next to nothing, has led many a person to loss and disaster. Too often such are not bargains, but costly. Some never stop to consider that the buying ability of one person couldn't be much superior to another of the same class. The cost of doing business is about the same. There may be a slight difference but it certainly isn't much. The advertisement that offers an unreasonable bargain is apt to be a trick."

"The Moral of the Circus. When we were children the biggest event in our lives was the coming to town of the circus. Lured and induced by the stentorian clamor of the barker, we paid our money and went in to see 'Bosco and the Wild Man; he eats 'em alive.' We wished we had our money back, but we couldn't get it. Then it was we learned to expect to get buncoed, but we didn't take the lesson to heart. We came back for a second dose. We got into a habit that lasted. Now we are grown people and still fall for the same old stuff."

"That is why we pass by the door of the merchant who offers top value for a reasonable price and hand our money over to the store that is out to trim us. That is why thousands of otherwise sane and sensible men and women lost $30,000,000 in recent failures of bucket-shops in New York City."

"It is safe to say that hundreds of St. Louisans passed by the very doors of reputable and responsible investment dealers and brokers in St. Louis and sent their money to irresponsible and unknown firms 800 miles away, firms whose names were unknown to them and of whom they had never heard until the received circular matter and letters through the mail."

"I hold no brief for the investment crook nor the retailer who defrauds. At heart they are jackals. But they ply their nefarious trade only because the public makes it possible for them to do so."

"The way of the honest advertiser and merchant is often hard. He tells the truth and sells his merchandise on its merits and his word. Too often, next door to him, he sees his competitor making all sorts of unwarranted claims, appealing to the credulity of the public, and he sees a stream of bait-attracted people going into his competitor's store."

"Can he be blamed if he comes to the conclusion that people want to be buncoed and flim-flamed? Isn't the temptation great to cast truth into the discard and indulge in the self-same practices. To stand the strain while that is happening requires real courage."

Public Is to Blame.
"The public is to blame for practically all the deception practiced upon it. Take for instance the 'suit club.' The reputable honest tailor puts into each garment the value paid for the material and workmanship. Another tailor, to get business, organizes a 'suit club.' He has receipt books printed and these he sells to people who are inoculated with the disease of wanting to get something for less than it is worth. These people pay $1 a week for 50 weeks under the promise that, at the end of that time, they will get a $50 suit but with the further inducement that each week one of the club members is designated to get a $50 suit for the amount paid in up to that time. There is a trick, but the club member doesn't find it out until he has paid in all his $50 and comes to get his suit. He then finds that what he can get for $50 he would not pay $35 for as a cash purchase."

"This same game is right now being worked in other lines. One concern dealing in furniture and jewelry on the club plan recently failed with more than 3000 members. If the average total payment of each member was $25, it meant a loss of $75,000. Yet hundreds and even thousands of St. Louisans are falling for the same kind of gamble today."

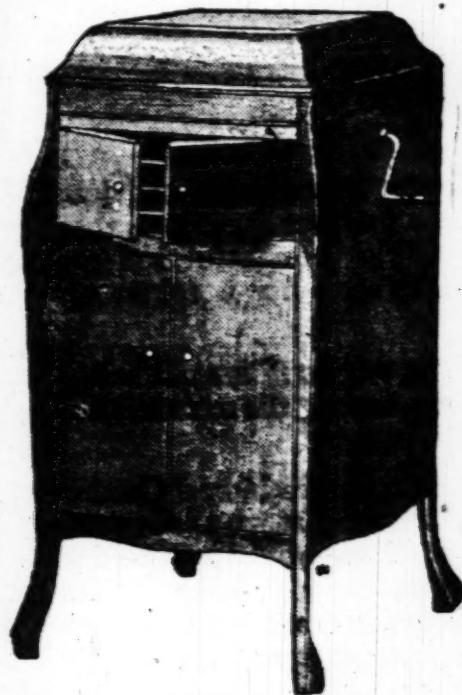

HOSPITAL HEAD REMEMBERED

A gold-headed cane was presented yesterday by more than a hundred patients of the Robert Koch Hospital to Dr. M. J. Dwyer, superintendent, who will leave next week to become resident physician of the Municipal Farm, on the Bellefontaine road. A silk umbrella was presented to Mrs. Dwyer by the patients.

Dr. Dwyer, who has been connected with the Koch and Quarantine hospitals for more than 18 years, was forced to give up his work as superintendent because of a lack of health. He will be succeeded as superintendent by Dr. R. C. Bernard of Wabasha.

Look in the Mirror Congratulate yourself you are using instead of grit

SCIENCE has shown that the PROPER METHOD of removing tooth film is by EMULSIFYING it, just as SOAP WASHES GREASE from the dinner plate.

Polishes to a Pearly Lustre

The scientists who developed Kolynos Dental Cream SPENT YEARS in perfecting this formula which, WITHOUT A TRACE OF GRIT, polishes the teeth to a pearly lustre and puts the WHOLE MOUTH in that hygienic condition which INSURES their continued beauty.

Nature's Eloquent Warnings

If your teeth are SENSITIVE, if your gums are TENDER—and their edges IRRITATED, the probability is you have been USING GRIT OR ACID—or both.

We have on file in our New Haven laboratories personal applications from over 47,000 American Dentists and 74,000 American Physicians for Kolynos Dental Cream, to distribute among their patients.

The Kolynos Company
New Haven, Conn.
U.S.A.

Note how even a BRIEF USE of Kolynos softens the irritated and inflamed gums and HOW COMFORTABLE it makes your teeth feel.

TRY KOLYNOS DENTAL CREAM FOR A FEW DAYS. Ask your dentist, your physician or your druggist about it. Discover the meaning of REAL MOUTH HAPPINESS.

Removes Masses of Germs

Kolynos Dental Cream removes great MASSES OF MOUTH GERMS, loosens these germs from their attachment to the teeth and gums, stimulates the flow of saliva and places EVERY PART of the mouth in a STATE OF RESISTANCE which prevents the rapid regrowth of germ life.

No Grit—No Scouring—No Injury

All this it accomplishes WITHOUT THE USE OF GRIT—or scouring. If you do not know Kolynos, the SCIENTIFIC Dental Cream, ask some one who does. Start using it today. After a few days' use your mouth will feel cleaner than it EVER DID BEFORE and this feeling of hygienic cleanliness will be reflected throughout your body. You will look in the mirror and congratulate yourself.

THE SWEDISH ACADEMYComic Artist, Editor of Scandi-

to Be So Honored.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
STOCKHOLM, April 19.—For the first time in the history of Swedish Academy, founded by King Gustavus
III in 1786, a humorist and comic artist has been elected to that exclusive body. This honor has just been bestowed on Albert Engstrom, one of the most popular figures in Sweden, editor of Strix, a Swedish humorist weekly, writer of distinction and the creator of some of the funniest cartoons and character sketches that ever came out of Scandinavia.

Two others were elected at the same time as Engstrom to fill vacancies caused by death, Tor Hedberg, poet and dramatist, until recently director of the Royal Dramatic Theatre, and Prof. Stenhammar, head of the Swedish Book of Lund University, one of Sweden's leading literary critics and essayists.

Membership Limited.

The Swedish Academy, popularly known as "The Eighteen," for its membership is limited to that number, was molded by its royal founder on the pattern of the French Academy for the special object of preserving, purifying and elevating the Swedish language. Its motto is "Genius and Good Taste."

While most of its members are eminent in the world of arts and letters, its doors are open to those who have won great distinction in other spheres, such as science and theology. The late Prof. Harald Hjaerne,
the historian, and Oscar Montellius,
the world famous archaeologist,
both of whom died recently, were members. Archbishop Nathan Soderblom, head of the Swedish Church, is a member. Miss Selma Lagerlof is the only woman ever elected to the Swedish Academy.

Although Engstrom's admission to the academy marks almost as radical a departure from old traditions
as that of Miss Lagerlof, the Swedish press and public as a whole rejoice that Engstrom has become "One of the Eighteen."

Engstrom's popularity is based on his brilliant essays, principally on marine subjects, as well as on his sympathetic sketches of the common people, sailors, fishermen, longshoremen and country types.

CONFERENCE AT BERLIN FOR UKRAINIAN TRADE AND EXPORT*Financial Arrangements Are Made to Develop Commercial Interests of the Ukraine.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, April 17.—The Ukrainian Foreign Trade Commission Bron, returning from Berlin, told an interviewer that extensive arrangements have been made in Berlin for buying European food and seeds.

Negotiations have been completed for the creation of a Ukraine-German mixed corporation for exporting Russian waste metals. The Ukraine-German Transport Forwarding Co. will soon commence operations, already having obtained warehouses in Odessa. Preparations are being made for the supply of ap-equipment to the Ukraine. Agreements are being completed for numerous agricultural concessions.
Bron sees great opportunities to attract foreign capital.

Several Berlin conferences outlined important financial operations to facilitate Ukrainian trade and export. The chief difficulty in transport will be obviated considerably
by negotiating Polish transit. Germany particularly needs Ukrainian ores which are sought also by other countries but Germany outbids others
by 20 to 30 per cent. Ukraine-German trade is developing rapidly, said Bron.

The leading German trade representatives are expected to arrive in the Ukraine and establish headquarters in Kharkov. He adds that German trading circles were astounded on learning of the great stores of ores and other raw materials ready in the Ukrainian ports for shipment abroad. He declared that the leading European political and commercial circles were convinced that the Ukraine with her ports and stocks
of raw materials was destined to play an active part in restoring economic relations.

PROGRESS IN BONUS PAYMENTAbout 500 Checks Mailed From Jefferson City Daily.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, May 11.—Bonus claims of Missouri veterans who served in the World War are now being paid at the rate of about 500
daily, says Secretary William Phillips of the State Soldiers' Bonus Commission.

During the first week in which checks were sent to former service men the work was somewhat slow,
while the commission was getting organized for the inspection, checking and rechecking of each soldier's record. Eight hundred and fifty claims were paid, however, during the week.
"More than two-thirds of the claims
which are being made by men applying for the bonus are incorrectly filled out on the application blanks
and have to be returned to the applicants," Secretary Phillips says.
"Many of the men forget to have
notaries attest to their statements.
Others forget to give their addresses and some even forget to sign their names. And then, of course, we receive many claims which we are not able to check from our records here and have to send to Washington to have their records verified."

BRETT PITCHES FOR BROWNS IN FINAL OF SERIES AT WASHINGTON

By Joseph F. Holland, Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.
(By Exclusive Wire From the Washington Ball Park.)
WASHINGTON, May 11.—Youth and ambition battled for experience today when Lee Fohl sent Hubert Brett, the University of Missouri southpaw, against the Washington Senators in the final game of the series. Brett performed meritorious relief service for four innings in the second contest and Fohl decided to give him a chance.

The selection enabled the Brown pilot to save Shocker for the Philadelphia opener tomorrow.
The southpaw opposition caused Ken Williams to drop to sixth place in the batting order, and it moved Jacobson and Severid up a notch. The attendance was about 4000.

FIRST INNING.
BROWNS.—Tobin singled to Peck. Gerber flied to Shank. Slier singled to center. Slier was called out at first, being run down. Zachary to Judge to Harris to Judge. NO RUNS.
WASHINGTON.—Bush walked. Harris sacrificed. Ellerbe to Slier. Rice grounded to Slier. Bush taking third. Judge flied to Jacobson. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING.
BROWNS.—Bush threw out Jacobson. Harris threw out Severid. Williams walked. Ellerbe lined to Rice. NO RUNS.
WASHINGTON.—Pruett tossed out Shank. Brower walked. Peck fouled to Ellerbe. Gharrity singled to left. Brower stopping at second. Zachary was called out on strikes. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING.
BROWNS.—McManus doubled to left. Pruett bunted to Zachary and McManus was run down. Zachary to Bush to Harris. Tobin singled to left. Pruett stopping at second. McManus tossed out. Rice, Harris taking third. McManus also tossed out Judge. NO RUNS.

WASHINGTON.—Williams ran into deep left for Bush's long liner. Gerber lost Harris' fly in the sun and it went for a hit. Harris stole second. McManus tossed out. Rice, Harris taking third. McManus also tossed out Judge. NO RUNS.

BURMAN TO TAKE NO CHANCES DERBY EVE IN GO WITH TOMMY RYAN
LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 11.—Few fighters, including Jack Dempsey, have been more coddled and more looked after than Joe Burman, the Chicago flash, who fights Tommy Ryan of McKeesport, Pa., in a 12-round battle here Friday night.

Joe arrived last night with the Windy City with trainers, advisors and newspaper men. Among them came with him his manager, Tommy Walsh, Sam Hall of the Herald and Examiner, Ed Smith of the American, two trainers, a secretary and five friends of the little lad.

Immediately upon his arrival in Louisville, he retired in his room at the Seelbach Hotel as he was rather tired after his long trip. He announced that he would be glad to meet all of his old friends at his headquarters and it is expected that several hundred will visit him as his best showing here brought him many admirers.

Like Tommy Ryan he is confident of victory and predicted that he would give the Pennsylvania boy a drubbing for seven or eight rounds and then put him away.

"With a fight for the title with Buff so near at hand I cannot afford to take any chances with Ryan," Burman said. "He is a tough, hard hitting boy and it is up to me to put him out of the way. Believe me, I'll take a lot of pleasure in doing it, too, because that little love lost between Ryan and myself."

Harvey Thorne and Jack Perry, who will engage in a 10-round contest, will arrive in Louisville today. This battle is expected to be one of the best ever staged here.

TRAGOS AND EISEL IN THIRD MATCH TONIGHT
The third meeting between Gus Eisel and George Tragos, middleweight wrestlers, will take place this evening at the Gaiety Theater. Tragos this afternoon weighed in at 164 pounds, thereby fulfilling the agreement into which he had entered. Tragos held Eisel to a draw on the occasion of their first bout and two weeks later he pinned the St. Louisan to the mat. The bout will be started at 10 o'clock.

District Tennis Campaign Opens
Increase in Membership Essential if City Is to Get National Clay Court Tourney.
The St. Louis District Tennis Association will open its 1922 membership campaign today in an effort to increase the number of tennis clubs in the organization. Every club in the city and county, regardless of size, if interested in tennis, will be asked to join the association.

If this city is to obtain the national clay court championship for 1923 the full support of all of the tennis interests will be needed. With a membership of at least 40 clubs, the local association will be able to strengthen its bid for the clay court event. This city is yet to have a national tennis tournament awarded to it by the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association.

The territory of the St. Louis District Tennis Association includes all of the city and St. Louis County and St. Clair County in Illinois. In the Illinois district there are over 100 clubs, including the East St. Louis Tennis Association, just recently organized. Tennis clubs in the entire district will be canvassed between now and June 1, when the membership campaign will close.

Plans are being prepared for the organization of a tennis league in St. Louis County to consist of such cities as Kirkwood, Clayton, University Heights, Ferguson and Webster Groves. One organization, the Webster Tennis Club, has already made application for admission to the district body. The proposed league will have tournament play as its principal activity.

There are a number of clubs within the city limits eligible to join the local association. Several posts of the American Legion have signified their intention of affiliating with the district organization. St. Louis Post No. 4 has renewed its membership of last season.

Dues of the association are only $10 a year. Any tennis club, commercial or civic organization interested in the game is eligible to join. Complete information relative to the district association may be had from Davidson Obear, chairman Membership Committee, 333 Arcade Building, or Robert Rucker, secretary, 429 Security Building, city.

The St. Louis District Tennis Association holds membership in the Missouri Valley Tennis Association and is affiliated with the United States Tennis Association. Its members are entitled to all privileges of the two associations, which represent the sectional and national districts.

Archers Close Season.
Members of the Hope Bowling League closed their season with a banquet at the Cherokee Cafe last night. The officers of the organization and officials of the St. Louis Bowling Association delivered addresses. About 100 were in attendance. There were 12 teams in the competition.

FIGHTING CRAFT IN PULITZER AIR RACES

Atlantic Planes Will Try for New Records at Detroit Event, Admiral Says.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., May 11.—An announcement that the fighting aircraft of the Atlantic would be brought to Detroit during the early part of September to participate in the Pulitzer air races and that pilots of these machines would seek to establish new altitude and endurance records, was made here recently by Rear-Admiral William A. Moffet, chief of the Bureau of Aerial Navigation of the United States Navy.

The admiral predicted that within the next year safe, dependable airplanes would be crossing the Atlantic on regular passenger and freight schedules and that the aircraft industry would rival that of the automobile industry within a comparatively short time. He predicted this city would become the center of the aeronautical field.

Discussing future possibilities, discussing the part that aircraft will play in any future war the admiral said:

"Aircraft was the only arm of defense that the recent disarmament conference failed to restrict and in the next war destruction or victory will be a matter of but a few hours. Great fleets of airplanes will drop 4000-pound bombs. Fleets of these air monsters will descend upon cities in the next war, carrying greater loads for greater distances than was the case during the world war."

Day Saved for Mail.

"The airplane is not to be developed merely as an engine of destruction, however. The commercial usefulness of the airplane cannot be overemphasized. The war airplanes, great carriers with a speed of from 15 to 40 knots an hour, will be able to launch smaller planes from their decks by means of a catapult that will cast the small ships into the air at the rate of 50 miles an hour. The same catapult well may be used for commercial purposes."

"A fast transatlantic airplane could cast from its decks an airplane loaded with men within a distance of a European port that the smaller machine could make in safety, thus saving a full day in mail operation."

SEMI-GOVERNMENTAL OPERATION OF SHOALS TO BE SUGGESTED

Measure Providing for 50-Year Lease of Project Will Be Laid Before Senate Committee.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 11.—A semi-governmental corporation for completion and operation of the Government's power and nitrate projects at Muscle Shoals, Ala., probably will be formally proposed to the Senate Agricultural Committee today. It was outlined partly yesterday by James T. Lloyd, attorney and former member of Congress from Missouri, who announced later that the proposal would be prepared for presentation to the committee.

J. H. Levering, a consulting engineer, Lloyd said, had originated the idea and asked him to draft it into the form of a bill for congressional consideration. It was intended, he said, to provide, in the bill, for a corporation with a directing body of seven, comprising a representative for each of the War, Treasury and Agriculture departments, to lease the projects for 50 years, complete those yet in unfinished stages, and at the termination of the lease return to the Government every penny it had expended at Muscle Shoals.

Teacher Killed by Lightning.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

EFFINGHAM, Ill., May 11.—R. B. Bryant, superintendent of schools at Edgewood, a few miles south of here, was struck by lightning about 8 o'clock yesterday morning, when on the way to his school. He had gone only a block when he was struck and instantly killed. He was 33 years old and is survived by his wife.

Want Officials in Klan to Quit.

By the Associated Press.

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., May 11.—The resignation of every public official in Kern County who belongs to the Ku Klux Klan was demanded in a resolution adopted by a crowd that packed a Taft theater last night. The resolution condemned the Klan as "un-American."

CAPSULE EXISTENCE THE ONE UNWANTED

By WINIFRED BLACK.

DEAN DEXTER S. KIMBALL, of Cornell University says it isn't going to be long before we'll stop setting the table, or even sitting down to it. We'll keep our food in capsules in a box on a shelf, handy, somewhere—and when you feel the need of nourishment you'll just step up and take a capsule—and that will be all there is to it.

Thanks, very much, Dean Kimball—it does simplify the dish-washing, doesn't it, and the planning of the meals—to say nothing of the cooking of them?

What a relief it will be to have all the fuss about eating cut out!

If you happen to look up on a pleasant spring afternoon, when you're out in the garden to see if the primroses have had courage enough to come out yet, and—there's Aunt Mary and Uncle John and the twins, and Elmer and little Susan come to spend a day or two!

You won't have to run to the telephone before Aunt Mary has had time to get her things off. Not you! You'll just ask her in and tell her how fine she looks and how the twins have grown—and, my, isn't Elmer big for his age, and whoever saw anybody with prettier hair than Susan's—am I when dinner time comes you'll just pass around a little box of capsules—and then you can all hike out to the early movies—and be happy.

An Amazing Prospect.
Canned heaters, canned music, canned heat, canned cold—and now canned food. What an amazing life we're going to live, one of these fine days!

Nothing in the world to do but press a button or turn a crank or swallow a capsule—and the next thing is for some one to invent a sleep capsule.

It's all nonsense to waste so much time sleeping. Just think of the fun you could have and the mischief you could get into if you didn't have to take those seven or eight hours right out of your life every 24 hours—just like that.

Food capsules, sleep capsules, rest capsules, exercise capsules, happiness capsules—the first thing you know, when we want to cry we'll just run and take some kind of pill and it will be all over.

Only, I suppose, we'll never want to cry when the capsule existence gets into full swing.

I do hope I shan't live until that time.

Materialistic it's awfully earthy and materialistic and old-fashioned to like to cook and to set the table and make it look pretty. What a difference a yellow jonquil or two does make, just about this time of the year!

And as for the fun of eating—sh-h! don't mention it!

You're nothing but a plain pig if you like to eat, and a fool if you love to see other people eat and enjoy their food.

What Would Be the Use?
But we can't all be ethical and advanced and all the rest of it. Some of us have to remain, I suppose, to serve as awful examples.

I'll take the job, thanks, for one. What is there in life, anyhow, but getting tired and then resting?

Getting sleepy—and sleeping?

Getting hungry and eating?

Getting thirsty and drinking?

Falling in love and marrying—bringing up your children and seeing them marry?

Making friends and keeping them—making enemies and forgetting them?

Learning new songs and singing them?

What's it all about, this fuss and fever of life, if we aren't going to get any comfort and peace of mind out of it at all?

You can have all the capsules you want, Dean Kimball—I'll throw mine out of the window, thank you—and stick to ham and eggs, and coffee and popovers, and fresh figs and cream, and a strawberry short-cake and fried chicken for mine, too. Yes, I'm even willing to go out into the kitchen and make some of these things myself—and more than that, I'm willing to work hard to earn the money to buy them—and if I had to live on capsules I wouldn't lift a finger for anyone or anything.

What would be the use?

Why not compress all of life into a capsule—and give it to the newborn child and get it over with—at one gulp?

Fashion News Notes

NEW YORK.—The newest corset, launched first in Paris, is a wide belt of broad satin and elastic of the slip-on or step-in construction. There is no opening at all. You pull it on over the head or up over the hips and it is tight enough so that it probably takes two of you to pull. But the effect is most attractive, for there is no break in the lines such as laces and snaps sometimes cause.

LONDON.—The newest knitted frock and coat combination is decidedly different. Of close mesh, the frock is substantial and done in a quiet shade. But the coat has a distinctly frivolous trend. Its mesh is very open and forms a geometric design of large patterns. Often the coat is of a contrasting shade and the mesh is so loose that a frock of tulle, for instance, looks as though partly covered by a silken film of green.

PARIS.—A lovely dancing frock of mauve crepe and silver lace has an unusual neckline. Starting at a perilous angle on one shoulder, it slopes slantwise to a point well beneath the other arm. Here it is caught in the nick of time by a strap of large amethysts that goes across the shoulder. A double necklace of amethysts linked by a silver chain, adds to the effect of the costume.

LONDON.—Bulrush brown is a new shade of peculiar depth and richness. It is a beautiful background for tan and deep cream. Other colors beginning to create a place for themselves are a soft, rosy brick, a gay forest green and a silvery mist gray. Navy blue and canary are vividly combined in some of the tailored suits.

NEW YORK.—Earrings have finally shaken themselves down into two accepted modes. One is the very long sort, cascading to the shoulder in a series of triangles, balls and loops. The other is merely a button set snugly on the ear lobe, yet while its general pattern is that of a button its size approaches the doorknob.

It is difficult to decide whether a pair of these enormous affairs of smoked pearl is a pair of earrings or of ear muffs.

PARIS.—The fish-tail has returned as an appendage to some of the afternoon and evening costumes. It is used with rather narrow costumes of gleaming material and gives a pretty marmalade look. Coiffure ornaments have grown almost top heavy. They are built up of jewels and beads and frequently hug the head like boudoir caps. On each side a huge evolution of the earring covers the ears and twinkles even below the shoulders.

UNCOMMON SENSE

PLAYING FAIR.

By JOHN BLAKE.

THE idler is a cheat. The shirk is dishonest. Neither pays the debt with which he was saddled when he came into the world, and which he has continued to run up since his existence began. No idler could live but for the labor of other men.

He therefore is not playing fair when he refuses to do his own share of work.

The food he eats comes from the soil, or from the herds and flocks and poultry yards and fruit orchards and tea and coffee plantations.

Only by severe toil does it become fit for his table.

The clothes that he wears must be taken from the sheep or from the cotton fields, or from the mulberry trees which are the pastures of the silk worm.

Railroad trains and ships must move on their courses, spindles and looms must turn, trucks must lumber through the streets and salesmen and saleswomen stand behind counters in order that he may be clad.

His education, his amusement, his very health depends upon the hard, unceasing labor of others.

He can only repay this debt by doing his own work, and by doing it as well as he can.

If he neglects it, gets through it with as little effort as possible, he has not done it well, and he is to just the extent of his neglect the thief of the labor of other men.

If he idles altogether, either by reason of inherited wealth, or by an ability to live on the product of others, returning not even superintendence himself, he is still a thief.

The employer who finds work for many men in the production of materials often does more than his share. Most of what the Socialists call parasites really do necessary work—the lawyer, the actor, the orator—all contribute to human happiness and progress.

But the man who idles even a part of his working time is a cheat, and a cheat has no place in the world.

Of all human qualities, laziness is the most common. It is only the man who yields to it who is a shirk. And he ought to be ashamed to look honest and industrious men in the face.

The Story of a Misunderstood Girl

CHAPTER XLIII. DREAD INSTEAD OF HAPPINESS.

NINA dead! I could not believe it. She was so young—hardly any older than I was—I felt incredibly shocked, and yes—oh, why was I so pitifully weak?—for deep down in my sore heart was a fierce feeling of thankfulness because now Mark Anderson could never belong to her.

It was the morning after that letter came than I was standing in front of the long mirrors in Madame Rosetta's sitting-room, trying on my wedding dress for the last time, when, quite suddenly—for I had not consciously been thinking of him—the face of Mark Anderson floated before my mind.

Madame Rosetta was walking round me, with little exclamations of pride and delight, and mother was sitting watching with the sort of self-satisfied air all mothers wear. I suppose, when they are about to get rid of an unwanted daughter by means of a wealthy marriage, when it seemed as if someone drew back a shutter before my eyes and showed me the picture of Mark's face as it had looked at our last dreadful meeting.

I am not a bit superstitious. I don't believe in spiritualism or anything like that, but just for an instant my heart seemed to stand still before it went racing on again. Had something happened to him?

I know that my color faded, and Madame Rosetta must have noticed it, for she asked me suddenly if I felt faint with standing for so long, and, glad of the excuse, I said: "Yes, just a little."

They unstopped my wedding dress and took it away, and I sat down trembling.

"Is the frock finished?" mother asked. She was far more concerned about that than she was about me, and Madame Rosetta shook her head as she answered:

"Not quite. It would not be lucky for mademoiselle if we tried it on quite finished." She smiled at me, but I hardly heard what she said. There was a dreadful feeling round my heart which I could not shake off.

Why should I imagine that anything had happened to Mark? And even supposing it had, what concern was it of mine?

I used every effort to put him from my thoughts as I dressed and left the house with mother, but I felt so unnerved that I was thankful we had not got to walk, and as soon as we reached home I went straight up to my room and set down on the bed, leaning my head against the brass railing.

Was I going to be ill, I wondered? And for an instant I almost hoped that I might, for it was but two days to my wedding and I dreaded the thought of marriage with Lionel Champion as I had never dreaded anything on earth.

He was kind and sweet, and he loved me, but what was that when I cared no more for him than I did for any friend?

I sat there, with my eyes shut, and my throbbing head resting on the cool bed-rail, almost praying that I might have managed to catch some serious illness which would indefinitely postpone my wedding day.

I tried to think of everything under the sun but Mark Anderson as I sat there, but there seemed nothing else in the world to think of. It was just Mrs. Alberry's careless letter that had inadvertently put these letters into the wrong envelope, and of course Mark must have got the letter—every look of me!—Perhaps even now he was reading it at the hotel, which was but a short walk away.

I dressed mechanically. I never opened any of the other letters, and later in the day I saw them all lying on my dressing table just as the maid had left them there.

I stayed in all the morning; people came, and telegrams, and more presents and I wrote notes and answered the telephone, and was kissed and congratulated, while all the time I felt as if I were waiting for something important to happen—something that would change the whole course of my life.

"What's the matter with you?" Winnie asked me once. "You look as if you're walking in your sleep."

I started and laughed. "Do I? Perhaps I am . . . oh, not another note, surely!" I added wearily as one of the maids came into the room with a note on a tray.

I made a grimace as I took it up; then all the blood in my body seemed to rush to my head as I recognized Mark's writing.

I tore the envelope open—but there was nothing in it except the letter from Mrs. Alberry, which had gone to him by mistake—not a word or a line.

"Who is it from?" Winnie asked inquisitively, but I walked out of the room without answering.

Was this the something important for which I had seemed to be waiting all day? If so, I had waited in vain.

That was true enough. He had not paid off the mortgage! It had never been paid off till Mr. Shelter had arranged for it to be done with my money. Before that Mark had been quite prepared to sell the farm and to leave the country as Mrs. Alberry herself had told me! What, then, was the real truth?

I rose and turned on the light. My cheeks were burning and my nerves felt all jumpy. Was I such a weakling that I still trembled at the thought of him and the memory of his eyes?

"I hate him—I hate him!" I said of the words aloud in the quiet room as I dressed for dinner. All the evening I did my best to be kind to Lionel. I tried to whip myself to the belief that I really did love him.

"You've never been so sweet to me before," Lionel said when for a few minutes we were alone before he said good night, and my eyes fell in shame as I realized what a hollow pretense it all was and how empty my heart felt.

"It's good-by for a little while then," he said wistfully. "Till our wedding day—and then . . . never good-by again, Sally . . ."

There was something so unconsciously pathetic in his voice that I had to laugh to keep back my own tears.

"And before long you'll be inventing excuses to say good-by to me so that you can stay out late," I said flippantly. "All husbands do when the first novelty has worn off."

But he would not take me seriously, and the last look I had of him as he went away was the little smile in his eyes.

Only one more day now! Was I utterly mad that deep down in my heart there was still a hope that something might happen to prevent my wedding even at the eleventh hour?

I woke in the morning to pouring rain and a gray sky.

The maid, who drew the blinds and brought me my tea and letters looked at me commiseratingly.

"Let's hope for a better day tomorrow, miss," she said kindly.

"What does the weather matter?" I asked. "It's got to rain sometime or other, I suppose."

I took up the pile of letters on my tray, but was not sufficiently interested to read any of them till I came to one which was addressed, in Mrs. Alberry's labored hand.

I had meant to burn all further communications from her unread, upon a plan of religious instruction which is destined, I believe, to exert a powerful influence over education, and that is a non-partisan, non-sectarian method of his church and school co-operation in weekday Bible teaching, without the usual objectionable feature of church or State officially ruling in the affairs of the other.

SOME ATTRACTIVE COSTUMES FOR

TEACHING THE BIBLE A NEW AND NON-SECTARIAN IDEA

An Experiment That Seems to Be an Appeal to Children, as Practised in an Illinois Town School.

By Dr. William A. McKeever.

CERTAIN of the church leaders of America have recently turned upon a plan of religious instruction which is destined, I believe, to exert a powerful influence over education, and that is a non-partisan, non-sectarian method of his church and school co-operation in weekday Bible teaching, without the usual objectionable feature of church or State officially ruling in the affairs of the other.

It was just Mrs. Alberry's careless letter that had inadvertently put these letters into the wrong envelope, and of course Mark must have got the letter—every look of me!—Perhaps even now he was reading it at the hotel, which was but a short walk away.

human nature for some kind of religious instruction and guidance. It is perhaps true to state that practically all the deeper students of the present troublesome age are in agreement on one point, namely, that religion is the only really hopeful agency whereby the people of this great country may finally be brought back to a level of spiritual poise and humble good will one toward another. And here many will agree, is perhaps the greatest or most promising new method for bringing the growing generation up to this coveted spiritual standard.

Let us send the idea abroad in the land for all it is worth. Let us try it out with patience and zeal for the hope that it seems to hold for the future. Let us appeal to our church leaders of every creed and kind to give the experiment their ablest assistance.

The little town of Batavia, Ill., is successfully trying out this new term of religious teaching, where 60 children are taking the course and seem to enjoy it. The Bible instructors, who meet them regularly and with a course which appeals to their normal dispositions, report that a far greater interest is shown than in the case with the ordinary Sunday School lesson.

The child looks upon his weekly Bible study period as a happy diversion, and it seems to be a sort of tonic for his regular school exercises.

But a profounder consideration than mere Bible study is involved here. That is a question of how to meet the eternal need of young chose.

In handling this important matter the Board of Education simply says to all alike: "Provide regular and adequate instruction, with record of progress, and check as to time and place, so that we may know that the child goes to you faithfully and returns to us promptly, and he will be placed at your disposal for the purpose intended."

Four Unusual Recipes from Finland

WHILE a farmer in Finland has more work to do on the farm than he can accomplish with his own hands, he is well known all over Europe, and his way to nearly all of his "talkoo," then all of his neighbors turn in and give him a day's help. The community spirit is fully developed among these people, which is followed by a big outdoor dinner, all the wives helping in the preparation, and the day ends with a dance for all the young people.

taste some of the following dishes, but meantime it may be fun to try them at home. Don't let the native names discourage you, for they really do not change the goodness of the dish itself, and you do not have to spell them in introducing the dish to the family.

Hillopannukakkuja—Finnish Pancakes.

Prepare a pancake batter in the usual way, using rich milk, 4 eggs and a little sugar, and fry the cakes as thin as possible. Spread soft jam between the cakes after buttering them, stack them six high, then heap with stiffly whipped cream which has been sweetened and flavored with vanilla, lemon or almond flavoring. Serve on hot plates.

Lohi-Puutinki—Fish Pudding.

Boil 1 cupful of large rice, after washing well, and when it is done drain it, add it to 1 quart of rich, hot milk, and cook until the mixture forms a batter. Allow the batter to cool, then add 2 tablespoonfuls of butter, 3 beaten eggs, a small grated onion, salt, pepper and 1/4 pound of flaked salmon. Pour into a buttered mold, then bake for 40 minutes in the oven. Unmold on a hot dish and turn over it a butter or rich cream sauce. Garnish with sliced, hard-boiled eggs and sprays of parsley.

Sillisalaatti—Finnish Salad.

Soak 2 Baltic herring in cold water for several hours. Next skin, bone and chop them. Chop enough cold meat to equal 2 cupfuls, add 2 cupfuls each of cold boiled potatoes, beets and carrots sliced. Slice in 2 big, sour pickles and mix all together with the fish. Dust with pepper and salt, sprinkle with a tiny bit of sugar, and moisten with French dressing made with mustard. Wipe the inside of the salad bowl with a cut bud of garlic, line the bowl with red and green beet leaves, and garnish the salad with hard-boiled egg rings and quarters.

Hernekakkuja—Pea Cakes.

Cook 1 can of green peas until tender, then drain and mash them. Add to them a tablespoonful of butter, 1/2 of a cupful of rich milk, 2 well-beaten eggs, salt, pepper, the juice of an onion, a teaspoonful of sugar, and 5 tablespoonfuls of flour with 1/2 teaspoonful of baking powder.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE'S SCRAPBOOK

THE bedroom curtains will not fly out the window and become soiled if you sew small rings on the inside of the hem and have hooks on the sides of the window frame. It will also give better ventilation to have the curtains fastened back.

Daddy's old felt hat will make an excellent floor polisher. Take the long-handled worn brush or mop, cover with a few layers of soft old cloth and cover with the old felt hat. Securely tie this to the handle.

The tops of the long kid gloves will make cute moccasins for the baby. Patterns can be bought and, with the addition of a little feather stitching, dainty shoes can be made. White kid can be tinted blue or pink. The fans will make serviceable foot-wear for the infant.

THE WIND.

By ALICE WINGATE FRARY.
The wind's activities hold the small child's attention—the clouds, the flying flag, windmills and pin-wheels, clothes away on the line, the blowing of children's hair and the tails of the fowls, the swaying trees and grass, while the weather-vane.

"Turning, pointing, ever showing How the merry wind is blowing," asks repeatedly, "Where? How?" There are a number of verses easily memorized which will make the wind seem a friendly element: "The Weather-vane" by Laura E. Richards, "I Saw You Toss the Kites on High" by Stevenson, and Christina Rossetti's.

"No hath seen the wind? Neither you nor I. But when the trees bow down their heads The wind is passing by."

As the child makes these verses his own, listen to stories such as "Jan" (in Mother Stories by Maud Lindsay) and "Aeolus and the Bag of Winds" and learn what the different winds bring, he is being wak-ened to a finer appreciation of a force that can be so gentle and yet so mighty.

Was there ever a child that did not ask, "Where does the wind come from?" It is part of the high office of parenthood to deepen a child's in-herental sense of reverence before the elements, to prevent if possible its deterioration into empty wonder or morbid fear. It is well to cultivate the feeling of awe, teaching the careless child that the piling up of thunder clouds and the bowing of wind-swept trees are to be appre-ciated, by this same appreciation lead-ing the timid one out of his fear.

The wind signifies the spirit. No mother who desires a well-rounded development for her child will fail to recognize his need of inner strength, his misconceptions that need straightening. While the king-dom of heaven is the inheritance of child-like hearts, children have need of guidance, and they guide us, too, when we are clear-sighted enough to respond, but our emphasis upon val-ues are unseen helps to raise our children's standards. Froebel's Mother Play of the Weather-vane brings to the child its tale of the wind's work and play; to the mother it brings a reminder of the inner forces that must be strengthened, the inner light that may illumine puzz-ling situations. Two books which are helpful in this respect are "The Notebook of an Adopted Mother," by Eleanor Davis (E. P. Dutton Co., New York) and "The Spiritual Care of a Child," by Anna Robertson Lindsay (T. Y. Crowell Co., New York), the latter with its vigorous reassurance of a truth all too easily ignored.

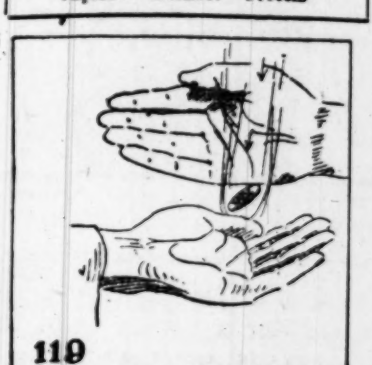

"Only God can bring up a child. Nothing will bridge the abyss of the actual and the ideal except faith, hope, love, and the immediate help of Divinity."

No. 110—Knocking Coin Through Hand.

A coin is apparently driven through the back of the hand. Spin a coin in the air with the right hand several times, each time catching it in the right hand. Final-ly, as you spin the coin straight up-ward, hold the left hand, loosely open, just below the right. As the coin comes down let it go past the right into the left, immediately closing the right hand as though it held the coin. Close the left hand and hold it back upward. Snap the right hand on the back of the left. When you lift the right hand the coin, which everyone thought was in the right hand, has gone. Open the left hand showing how you drove the coin right through the back of the hand. Copyright, 1922, by Public Ledger Company.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Black Pussy Is Unpleasantly Surprised

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

In every walk of life you'll find Black Pussy's kidding near; A single moment's carelessness May cost you very dear.

Black Pussy was out hunting. Black Pussy loves to hunt! It is not that Black Pussy ever needs to hunt. No, indeed! No Cat was ever better fed and cared for than Black Pussy, the Cat at Farmer Brown's house. When Black Pussy goes hunting it is for pleasure and pleasure only. She dearly loves to hunt. That is why she is hated by all the little Meadow and Forest people. If she had to hunt them in order to live, as is the case with Reddy Fox, Old Man Coyote and others, they would feel very differently.

This day Black Pussy had had no luck at all. She had smelled Danny Meadow Mouse, but though she had patiently watched and watched and watched, she hadn't seen him. Danny had seen her first. When at last she gave up watching for Danny and begun to roam over the Green Mead-ows it seemed as if everyone must have been warned that she was com-ing. Gradually she worked over toward the Old Briar-patch. She knew Peter Rabbit lived there. It was just the time of year for Peter and Mrs. Peter to have a family. How delightful it would be to catch a young Rabbit!

By and by as she stole along toward a patch of sweet clover a Merry Little Breeze happened her way. It brought to her the scent of young Rabbit. A fierce look of long-ing crept into Black Pussy's yellow eyes. She crouched lower and be-gan to steal through the grass as only Black Pussy can. With every step the scent of young Rabbit grew stronger. Several times she carefully raised her head to look, but though she looked and looked she saw nothing but sweet clover. However, her nose told her that somewhere in that sweet clover was a young Rabbit, and she kept on.

Now all this time a stray baby of Peter Rabbit's was asleep in that patch of sweet clover. He knew nothing of Black Pussy. Had he been awake and seen her it is doubt-ful if he would have known how greatly she was to be feared. But he wasn't awake, and Black Pussy was almost withing jumping distance of him. Black Pussy flattened herself closer to the ground and crept for-ward a step, another step, a third step and then a fourth. Her nose told her exactly where that baby Rabbit was. She gathered her hind feet under her to spring.

Just as Black Pussy was about to make that spring there was a snarling growl in the grass just to one side of her. Black Pussy whirled about. There facing her was some-one showing an ugly looking set of sharp teeth. The hair on his back stood up. His eyes snapped with anger. He looked ugly and anything but afraid. Who was it? It was Johnny Chuck. He had stolen through the grass from his doorstep so quietly that Black Pussy, who had had no eyes for anything but that patch of sweet clover, hadn't seen him at all.

Black Pussy's tail became twice as big as it ought to be, for every hair on it stood on end. She spat angrily. "Johnny Chuck made a short rush at her. Black Pussy growled and jumped back. Johnny rushed again. He looked very fierce and big. Black Pussy knew she was no match for him. She had no desire to feel those sharp teeth of his. Once more she jumped back. Then she turned and ran.

Johnny Chuck sat up and watched Peter's baby had been taking a nap. The little Rabbit was sitting up, staring at him with big soft eyes that seemed to be popping right out of his head. It was plain that he was as badly frightened as had been Black Pussy. In fact, he was worse frightened, for he was too fright-ened to move.

The Fast Mail ~1861

A HARD GUY—weight, 135 pounds, or less; good for 80 miles at the gallop without rest; used to mountain-roads at midnight, snow or rain; not scared of Indians, road agents or bad men; trustworthy with messages—and that's about all.

Slight of build—often a mere boy—the Pony Express rider made many an outward and return trip between stations without a halt. An eight-day journey with relays covered the 2000 miles between the Missouri and San Francisco, and the mailing charge was $5.00, gold, per half-ounce.

The Union Pacific took his place, over the same trail, and cut the price and the time. His audacity survived in the pioneers who built the first cross-continent railroad—harassed by Indians, derided by politicians, hampered by scarcity of funds, material and food supplies.

They have set a high standard for those who inherit their labors. All that the Union Pacific accomplishes in quickening commercial inter-course and tightening human relationships is part of its effort to discharge worthily the obligation bequeathed by its founders.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB

(One of a series of short funny stories by the celebrated American humorist which appear daily in the Post-Dispatch on this page.)

MY LADY'S ONE WEAK POINT.

MARTIN GREEN, one of the best-known newspaper men in New York, has a remarkable memory for faces. He has a remarkable memory for other things, too—for facts, for figures, for scenes—but remembering the human face is his specialty. Twenty-odd years ago he was a reporter in St. Louis. At a summer park he became acquainted with a vaudeville team consisting of a brawny Irishman and the Irishman's equally brawny Swedish wife. The team had an act which was simple, in a way, and yet thrilling. Their stage props consisted of a sledgehammer and a collection of paving stones. To an appropriate bar of music the pair would come forth from the wings, and the lady would station herself in the center of the stage, and upon her head the gentleman would balance a large, jagged lump of limestone. Then, stepping back, he would swing his sledgehammer aloft and bring it down with all the force of his mighty arms upon the stone, dashing it into scores of fragments. The lady would blink slightly, take her bow amid tremendous applause from the audience and the couple would back from sight to reappear an hour or so later and repeat the performance.

Two decades passed. In 1920 Green was reporting the national Republican convention at Chicago. One evening he boarded a trolley car for a trip over to South Chicago. The car was crowded and Green found standing room on the rear platform. Something about the face of the conductor stirred a memory long buried in Green's brain. He studied the countenance of the other for a minute and then the answer to the puzzle came to him.

"Say, look here," he said, "I seem to recall you. Aren't you Brennan of the old team of Brennan and Swanson that used to do a turn at the summer park in St. Louis way back about 1900?"

"That's right," said the conductor. Then, with a sigh, he added: "Sure but this was the happy days."

"What made you quit the stage?" asked Green.

"It was on me wife's account," said the ex-Thespian, "that we finally had to give up the profession. She got so she couldn't stand it no longer, me bustin' thim cobbles on her head."

"Gave her headaches, I suppose," said Green.

"No, not that," said Brennan. "It bruk her arches down."

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

THE JUDGMENT OF THE FISHES.

Certain European politicians profess to see a portent in the fact that the fish of the Adriatic have deserted the shores of Italy for those of Jugo Slavia.

I don't believe in portents,
I don't believe in signs,
Nor in the witch of legend which
A hidden spring divines.
I know no valid reason
A simple fish could have
To cross the deep a try to keep
With any Jugo Slavic.
Though statements in this action
A prophecy may see,
I must admit it's not a bit
Significant to me.

The fishermen of Venice
Their baited lines still set Upon the main, but all in vain,
For not a bite they get.
In blue Sicilian waters
The sardine nets are spread,
Without a haul; the fishes all Fluneward have fled.
Believe this curious conduct
An omen if you wish,
We're not inclined to change our mind
Because of any fish.

How sickle are these fishes
All anglers are aware;
Their haunts you seek in sea or creek
But seldom find them there.
I fail to see how statements
Possessing common sense
Can think they move about to prove Their racial preference.
They know no flag or country
And it's of no avail
To hang the fate of any state
Upon a fish's tail.

AND THEY'D DESERVE WHAT THEY GOT.

If it were a statutory offense to rob people of their sleep, the jails would be overcrowded with the operators of pneumatic riveters.
